MRS. CRAVEN HAS BEEN INDICTED.

Charge of Perjury in the Fair Will Case.

OTHER INDICTMENTS MADE.

LATEST DEVELOPMENT OF REMARKABLE LITIGATION.

History of the Claim by Which Mrs. Craven Sought to Prove That She Was Married to Fair.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—Mrs. Nettie R. Craven has been indicted by the grand-jury on a charge of perjury for her testimony given before that body in relation to her claim for a widow's share of the James G. Fair estate. George W. Simpton, who swore that he married Fair and Mrs. Craven, and who subsequently made oath that he lied in his first affidavit, has been also indicted for perjury. Adolph Sylva, the man who boasted that he engineered the scheme by which Simpton was induced to make his contradictory affidavits, has been indicted for subornation of perjury, which is also defined a felony. If the accused are convicted they may be punished by imprisonment not less than one year nor more than fourteen years. The indictments are now in the hands of District Attorney Byington, to be presented to the grandjury to-day. There are said to be others implicated and other indictments may follow.

George W. Simpton was formerly justice of the peace and at present is town recorder of Sausalito.

Adolph Sylva is town trustee of Sausalito, Marin County, and a prominent local politician.

The suit of Mrs. Craven to secure a marriage allowance from the Fair estate was begun last February. Since then it has furnished a new sensation nearly every day. Perjury, subornation of perjury, forgery—these are a few of the offences alleged to have been committed. Mrs. Craven's own story was an interesting narrative. She declared that Senator Fair whom she had known many years, proposed marriage to her seven years ago. He asserted that there was no use of publicity, as it would only excite gossip and cause trouble in his family. She said he wrote out the brief marriage contract that she produced in court, and they both signed it in the presence of a notary. Afterward he declared, according to her version, that a civil marriage was necessary to make their union valid and the two went to Sausalito, across the bay from San Francisco, and were married by Justice of the Peace Simpton. Her story was drawn over several days, but it was deficient in details and dates.

Mrs. Craven's story of the civil marriage created a sensation, and it was apparently clinched by an affidavit from Justice Simpton going into minute details. A few days later the attorneys for Charles Fair threw a bombshell into the Craven camp by producing a second affidavit from Simpton, in which he told how he had been engaged by his friend Sylva of Sausalito to make this original affidavit on the understanding that Mrs. Craven would pay him $1000. He averred that he had never performed the marriage, and he made the second affidavit to clear his conscience and to escape the penalty of perjury.

Mrs. Craven has been attended in court by her daughter Margaret, who was recently married to the son of the millionaire brewer Koebler of St. Louis.

The legal status of the various branches of the Fair will litigation may be summed up as follows: The trust will, decided by Judge Slack not to apply to the rest of the will, has been held by the State Supreme Court to be valid and to apply to all of the estate. A rehearing was granted and a new trial is set for July. The pencil will has been thrown out of court and can't be revived.

The deeds to property worth $1,500,000, which Mrs. Craven says Fair gave her, have been declared fogeries by Judge Slack, and the case is now on appeal to the Supreme Court. Charles Fair's suit to have his father declared of unsound mind has not yet been set for trial, and it will never be tried unless the trust clause in the will shall be declared valid by the United States Supreme Court.

For the last five years the Fair will case, involving an estate of $15,000,000, has occupied the attention of various branches of the courts in San Francisco. Newspaper reports of the many proceedings have filed columns every day for three months at a stretch; famous experts in handwriting have been brought across the continent to testify, and Judge Curtis of New York was imported to conduct the case of one of the litigants who is endeavoring to prove that she is Fair's widow and should have a widow's share of the estate. The case already has more ramifications than the Sharon divorce litigation or the Blythe case, the two celebrated suits of San Francisco in the last 20 years. No murder has yet been committed as an outgrowth of the Fair will case, but about every other offense on the calendar has been committed by somebody or other connected with the case. The lawyers expect to receive a million dollars in fees for their work—that is, the successful ones. The men who fight on the losing side will have to content themselves largely with notoriety.

A special feature of the Post-Dispatch on Saturday will be the report of the Corbett-Jeffries fight writen by Kid McCoy.

FLAXSEED HAS BEEN CORNERED

From Ninety Cents Five Months Ago the Price Has Been Advanced to $1.80 a Bushel.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, May 11.—It is stated here that flaxseed has been cornered, that the combination is in control of the seed and oil market and that not less than $8,000,000 in profits are in sight.

Owners of mills outside the trust and dealers in the seed, paint and oil, says that the American Linseed Oil Co. and the Albert Dickinson Co. of this city form the alleged combination.

From 90 cents five months ago flaxseed has advanced to $1.80. Linseed oil has advanced in the same period from 34 to 63 cents a gallon.

The corner is so complete, it is stated, that nearly every independent mill in the United States is shut down, while the trust is running only a small per centage of its capacity.

The Dickinson Co. are the largest flaxseed dealers in the country. They refuse to speak of the matter.

STRIKERS' FRIDAY MEETINGS

At the West End Coliseum Friday night the strikers will have a benefit under the direction of C. H. Haughton. A boxing entertainment will be interspersed with reports from the Corbett-Jeffries fight. A mass meeting will be held in North St. Louis Turner Hall at the same time.

Two mass meetings will be held Saturday evening, one at Athletic Park and the other at Butchers' Hall, Twenty-third street and Chouteau avenue. At all of the mass meetings the strikers' side of the controversy will be presented to the public.

FINE WEATHER TO CONTINUE

Dr. Hyatt Says the Sunshine Is Here to Stay, and Assures Fair Days.

Dr. Hyatt, the weather man, says he isn't going to desert the public in its hour of need. He is going to continue to furnish sunshine free of charge, and he thinks he can provide fine weather for at least 48 hours from date.

If he keeps his promise, Sunday will be a fine day for the display of fashionable furniture cars, ice wagons, huckstoresttes and similar equipages now much affected by St. Louisans.

Lindell boulevard will resound with the shouts of merry revelers in stake wagons, and West End coachmen will turn green with envy when they see the tireless butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker speeding along the avenue in tireless carriages, while staid business men will do stunts on rented bicycles geared for trick riding—all this because it will be a fine day, unless all signs fail.

"I belong to the strongest union on earth," said Dr. Hyatt Friday morning. "Its president is Uncle Sam and it gives ultimatums to all the world. I am going to do all I can for my fellow-members by providing them with good weather.

"That sunshine is here to stay. It will be fair Friday night and Saturday, and I think it will continue so Sunday, though it is against the rules of my union to make predictions more than 24 hours in advance.

"It was generally clear this morning, except over the lakes, where there was a little rain. There is a low coming in from the Rockies, but it does not seem to be accompanied by rain."

Weather conditions since the strike have done a great deal toward lessening the inconvenience of the public. In fact it has been remarkably cool, especially in the evenings and mornings. But when it rains—that will be another story.

THE WEATHER INDICATIONS.

FAIR.

St. Louis and vicinity—Fair Friday night and probably Saturday.

Missouri—Fair Friday night and Saturday and probably Sunday; warmer south and east portions.

Illinois—Fair Friday night and Saturday and probably Sunday; warmer Saturday and south portion Friday night.

Dear Sirs:-

In accordance with instructions in your letter, we have entered your order for the addition of a complete three-color attachment to your Quadruple Press. The work upon this has already been commenced.

This press when completed will embrace all of our latest improvements, and be as fine a machine of its kind as it is possible to construct. It is not only a complete Color Press, but when run with three rolls for black work only will have a capacity equal to six single roll machines such as we first placed in the "Post-Dispatch" office in 1882. In addition to this it will print four colors on the first and last pages.

As a "Sextuple" News Press it will give you, per hour:

48,000 4, 6 or 8 pages,
24,000 16 pages,
24,000 10, 12, 14 or 16 pages,
12,000 20, 24 or 28 pages,

folded, inset or collected, and pasted.

In each of these combinations four colors can be printed if desired.

Fully aware that your present plant is altogether insufficient to meet the demands upon it, we will, as you request, push forward the work as fast as possible.

The net product you are obtaining from your present "Quadruple" machines is not, so far as we can learn, exceeded by the output of any presses of the kind.

Yours very truly,

HOW THE POLICE ARE STATIONED.

Disposition of the Men Along the Track.

LINDELL AND SUBURBAN LINES.

BOTH GUARDED FROM END TO END NOW.

Nearly All the Men Are on Duty—The Old City Hall Converted Into an Emergency Station and Barracks.

Chief of Police Campbell has almost the entire police force on duty along the lines of the Suburban and Lindell Railway property. The men will be kept at these points so long as it may be necessary.

Most of the men were relieved from duty early Thursday night and they took a much-needed rest. According to instructions, they reported for duty at 6 o'clock Friday morning and went to work looking fresher than they have since the strike began.

The chief has divided his men up in the manner which he thinks they will be best able to do the work that may fall to their lot. At De Hodiamont, where the Suburban powerhouse and sheds are, Capt. Gillaspie is in charge of 72 men and eight sergeants. This is one of the most important places in the city just now. Great crowds of men have congregated there when it was announced that cars would be run out from the sheds. Happily all serious trouble was averted and when the cars were drawn from the sheds policemen were found to be on both front and back platforms. The start was made Friday morning without any serious friction.

The Suburban's territory from De Hodiamont to Vandeventer avenue is under control of Capts. Young and O'Malley. Capt. Young has 43 men and six sergeants under him, and Capt. O'Malley has 72 men and six sergeants. The captains station their men at the street crossings as they think best. The police form a guard all along the track. No crowds are allowed to congregate.

From Vandeventer avenue to Garrison avenue Capt. Schroeder is in charge of 38 men and four sergeants.

From Garrison avenue to Twenty-second street Capt. Joyce has a force of 80 patrolmen and six sergeants.

From Twenty-second street to Fourteenth and Wash streets Capt. Creecy has a force of 55 men and six sergeants.

From Fourteenth and Wash streets to Thirteenth street and Washington avenue Capt. Kiely has a force of 80 men and six sergeants. This short bit of territory is considered the most dangerous of any place away from the power house. The track contains some very sharp curves and runs through a part of the city where the negro population is dense.

From Thirteenth street and Washington avenue to the loop at Sixth and Locust streets 100 men and 10 sergeants are under the command of Capt. Reynolds and Lieut. Johnson.

The remainder of the force is stationed along the line of the transit company. At Taylor and Fairfax avenues, at the transit company's car sheds, Sergt. Hickman has a force of 50 men. Along the line from Taylor and Finney avenues to Third street 150 policemen, many of them mounted, are on duty, and they change positions as the circumstances demand.

Dr. William R. Faulkner, superintendent of the equipment for the police, was appointed a committee of one Thursday to make of the old City Hall a central station for the police. He obtained possession of the first and second floors of the building on the north and east sides. The upper floor was converted into sleeping quarters for 200 men. The lower floor will be equipped for regular police duty. Telephones, lights and everything needed has been provided. Dr. Faulkner has also procured 10 wagons and a sufficient number of horses to take the men to such a place as they may be needed at a moment's notice. The police who live in the remote parts of the city will thus be enabled to obtain a good rest whenever they may be relieved from duty and will not have to use all their time going to and from home. A reserve force will also be stationed there for an emergency.

SEVERAL LINES OPEN THIS AFTERNOON

OTHER DIVISIONS MAY BE OPENED FRIDAY.

Service Is Not Being Interfered With and Police Guards Encounter Little Opposition Beyond Hooting and Jeering.

LINDELL RUNNING.

Cars are running on the Lindell main line at four-minute intervals between Taylor avenue and the Eads bridge Friday. The start was made shortly before 7 o'clock and the transit company announced that the service would be continued all day, but it was not determined how far into the night the cars would be run.

The main line of the transit company's Lindell division—from Taylor and Finney avenues to the Eads bridge approach at Third street and Washington avenue—was opened early Friday morning.

The first car left the sheds at Fairfax and Taylor avenues at 6:50 o'clock, amid silence and stillness. So little excitement attended the movement of cars on this line that the policemen actually yawned as they walked about the streets in the vicinity and told one another to "move on," just to keep their hands in. No one else was there to be hustled.

Cars followed rapidly after the first one without interruption, and by 9 o'clock a four-minute schedule was in operation, with 20 cars running from Taylor avenue to the bridge. No attempt was made to operate the branch lines.

Chief Campbell superintended the start of the cars. With him were a score of officers, mounted and on foot, and about 75 policemen, all told. Of the mounted men there were about 25, and before the cars started they were sent out to take stations at intervals along the line, to disperse the crowds that might collect.

They had so little to do that they dismounted, tied their horses and rested. The patrolmen were told off in squads of 3 and 4 and rode on the cars.

All the men had breakfast, in platoons, and then the first car, No. 266, with Schamback at the motor lever, was run out of the sheds. Four officers took station on it, under the personal orders of the chief to "take it through." Two officers occupied the front platform and two were on the rear. The start was made and the car turned into Finney avenue and headed east without a word of dissent from any one, and without an indication that it was not the beginning of an ordinary's day's run. Soon after No. 16 was sent out, and then, in quick succession, five more started east. They proceeded with the same ease and quiet, and no one seemed to give them more than a passing glance.

A squad of patrolmen, under Capts. Boyd and Keely, stayed about the shed and on the nearby corners, and kept every person in the vicinity on the move. No one was allowed to pause; if he passed he was kept going. There was no interference on the part of any one, and all the men in the neighborhood would not have numbered half a hundred in the early hours.

Only once did an officer have to speak above an ordinary tone of voice. A driver of a passenger wagon shouted "Scab!" as a car passed him. A sergeant and two men were on the wagon in a moment and he was so shut up that he turned pale. That ended the game for him and he was soon driven away.

Chief Campbell and a squad of men drove a little crowd out of a beer garden just before the cars started, at Fairfax and Taylor. None of the occupants was saying anything, but the chief did not care to have the men in a place where stoning could be done and he not be able to see them. That was the nearest to any excitement that happened.

By 9 o'clock 20 cars were out, running at four-minute intervals. All carried policemen, from two to four.

The cars, with the bluecoats on both ends, encountered no trouble in making the trip to the bridge. There were no hostile demonstrations further than an occasional cry of "Scab."

Each of the first five cars down carried a number of passengers. The cars promptly circled the loop on arriving at the bridge approach and started back.

It was at least twenty minutes before another car appeared at the bridge after the first had departed. Then car No. 266 arrived with seven policemen aboard. It was followed within the space of ten minutes by five other cars, numbered successively 16, 1399, 249, 17 and 1312. The number of policemen on these cars grew gradually less, and when the last of this quintet showed up the crowd about Broadway and Washington avenue commented on the fact that it carried only two of Chief Campbell's men.

At noon the cars seemed to be running down Washington avenue at regular intervals and free from interruption.

At 10 o'clock 19 cars had been sent out over the main line of the Lindell division, running downtown to Third and Washington avenue. On the westbound trip most of these cars were run over Delmar avenue to Forest Park. Several were sent over the Page avenue line west to Hamilton avenue. One care was sent over the Clayton line to Clayton at 9 o'clock.

POLICE FOR PARK AVENUE.

At noon, Capt. O'Malley stated to the Post-Dispatch that he had received orders to send a force of men to Park and Vandeventer avenues, to the Lindell division power house there, to assist in starting the Park avenue line. He immediately issued orders calling in the mounted men from the station at DeHodiamont, and ordered them to go over to the south side. He said that cars would be run on the Park avenue line during the afternoon.

Police Say All Cars Can Run if There Are Men—Transit Co. Asks Strikers to Return.

Lindell Main Line Running and Starts Made on Other Transit Divisions.

Attempt to Start the California Av. Cars at Jefferson and Geyer Avs. Caused a Riot and Several Arrests Were Made.

Cars are running Friday afternoon on the following lines. Suburban, main line and all branches; Lindell, main line, running out Delmar avenue and to Forest Park; Page and Spalding branches of the Lindell division; the Park avenue line; the Bellefontaine line; the California avenue line.

Police Chief Campbell announced to Superintendent Baumhoff of the transit company at noon that the department would furnish enough policemen to guard all cars that the transit company chose to run. Mr. Baumhoff requested that patrolmen be sent to the starting points of the transit company's lines enumerated above.

Capt. Young and 50 men took care of the starting of the Park avenue line. Two policemen were placed on each car. Lieut. Johnson and 25 men were sent to the Bellefontaine powerhouse at Twentieth and Ferry streets. Twelve cars were started on this line.

Chief Pickel and 25 men went to the Geyer and Jefferson avenue station on the California avenue line.

Superintendent Baumhoff told Chief Campbell that no attempt would be made to start the other divisions Friday. He said that the Laclede and Olive street lines would be open Saturday morning, and it was not determined whether the cars would run at night, the supposed intention being to run them only until 7 o'clock.

Two cars were taken out of the station at Geyer and Jefferson avenues and started for Carondelet at 2 o'clock. About 300 striking employes of the road and their friends were around the carsheds at the time, and when the cars came out a rush was made for them, in an attempt to pull the motormen off the car.

The crowd was forced back by the police, and the cars proceeded on their way without further interference. Two men were arrested by Capt. Pickel and taken to the Soulard street station.

General Manager Baumhoff announces that the last cars on the transit company's lines Friday will leave the downtown terminal at 6:15 p. m. and run to the end of their respective divisions

A determined effort was made Friday to break the street car strike.

Cars have been running since 7 o'clock on the main line of the Transit Co.'s system from Taylor avenue to the Eads bridge, at regular intervals.

On the Suburban line cars have been running on all divisions pretty nearly on schedule time.

The cars of the Transit Co.'s lines have been running under strong police escort. On the Suburban lines they have run practically without police escort.

President Harry B. Hawes of the police board has issued a statement saying that the department, he believes, is able to protect the Transit Co. if it has men enough to run its cars, and suggests that the company at once demonstrate its ability to man the cars as it claims it is able.

AS TO THE QUESTION OF MEN

Union Employes Say Company Has Few and the Company Says It Has Enough.

The union employes and their sympathizers claim that the Transit Co. is concentrating all its available men at the Lindell division car sheds to run the cars from that point. They assert that the reason more cars are not run is that there are not men enough in the employ of the company.

Division Superintendent Myers said to the Post-Dispatch: "We have not hired a new man since the strike began. This is a bad time to get new men. We expect our old men, the strikers, to come back to work. For two weeks prior to the strike, although we were needing men, we hired nobody, as we did not want to precipitate trouble. I have all the men I need to run the regular cars on the Lindell division. This does not include the trippers."

Under ordinary conditions there are 60 regular cars on the different lines of the Lindell division. Each car has both day and night crews, requiring 240 men for the 60 cars. The names of 6ft men are posted in the office, as conductors and motormen, including the regular crews and the trip-

RESTS WITH TRANSIT OFFICIALS.

Police President Hawes Says the Roads Can Run if the Company Has Enough Men.

ST. LOUIS, May 11, 1900.

The situation to-day is much more promising, and it is mainly due to the efforts of W. D. Mahon, national chairman of the Amalgamated Street Railway Union, and his able assistants, Edwards and Missik. These gentlemen have wisely taken the position that disorder and violence will injure the cause of the strikers, and that those strikers and their sympathizers who engage in acts of lawlessness in a mistaken idea that they are assisting the cause of the striking employes, are, as a matter of fact, their worst enemies.

If I understand the position of the labor leaders, it will be impossible for the railroad companies to secure enough men to man and run their cars. The sooner the streets are cleared and this fact is demonstrated to the general public, the sooner the weakness of the companies' position—according to the labor leaders—will be demonstrated.

There is no question now as to what the real issue is between the men and the companies. It is a straight-out demand to unionize the roads. The other propositions presented by the committee sink into insignificance beside this paramount issue, and can be easily adjusted after its determination. I am glad that the issue is now squarely joined, so that the companies, the strikers and the public may understand the same.

Mahon is a man of great coolness and executive ability. He will not let minor stipulations stand in the way of an adjustment of the leading proposition of unionizing the roads. It is also very gratifying to me to know that the labor leaders believe that the efforts of the department have been rightly directed; and that the department will have their assistance and co-operation in preventing lawlessness and violence in the future.

The department will use every resource which it can command and devote its every energy to preserving peace and order so that the companies may have an opportunity to prove their claim that they have sufficient men to run their cars.

The companies on one hand are confident that they have the necessary men to run their cars. The strikers on the other hand are confident that they have not. The preservation of peace and order will quickly determine who is right, and the issue will be joined on the question of unionizing the roads.

Harry B. Hawes
President Board of Police Commissioners.

pers. There are 45 trippers, or cars that run morning and evening to accommodate the crowd going to work and returning home.

Twenty cars are now running, two men on each car. There are not more than 40 conductors and motormen left in the car sheds. This makes 80 men accounted for.

All these men sleep and eat in the office and gymnasium of the Lindell division. For three days and nights they have not dared to go home.

Thursday night Conductor Hofman went to his home on Evans avenue, followed by five men, said to be strike sympathizers. He got into his home when his pursuers were right at his heels. Friday morning Hofman returned to the carsheds in citizens' clothing. Later he sent a messenger to notify his wife that he needed his uniform. Mrs. Hofman wrapped up the uniform and got to the carsheds without molestation.

Division Superintendent Myers declines to state in numbers the force of men he has at his command. The striking motormen and conductors declare that all the men Myers can muster are those who are eating and sleeping in the carsheds.

TRANSIT COMPANY'S SIDE

Attorney Lehmann Says the Governor's Conference Was Without Result.

At the close of the conference held at the Southern Hotel Thursday afternoon Attorney Fred W. Lehmann, representing the St. Louis Transit Co., made the following statement for publication:

"We left there without any conclusion of any kind. Mr. Mahon insisted that every employe of the company must belong to his association, and we refused to concede any principle of that kind.

"The conference was informal, including Gov. Stephens, Attorney-General Crow, ex-Gov. Francis, Mr. Whitaker, Mr. Baumhoff, Judge Priest, Mr. Mahon, the president of the association, and Messrs. Missik and Edwards of the local organization, and Mr. Hawes of the Police Board. The committee and Mr. Hawes were there ahead of us, and Ben F. Clark, as attorney for the committee, was also present. There was some complaint by the committee that the agreement of March 10 with the company had not been carried out. They admitted that 32 of the men who had been discharged prior to that agreement had been put back. Our superintendents insisted that the three others who were discharged and had not been re-employed were discharged for reasons other than any connection with the organization. The committee complained that the 20-cent per hour feature of the agreement had not been kept. There were some employes on the Broadway line who, they said, for example, worked 10½ hours and the time allowed them was half an hour short. These are not the actual figures used, but are given as an illustration. They admitted that this matter had not been brought to the attention of Mr. Whitaker until the last meeting, and that Mr. Whitaker said that he would investigate it thoroughly; that if there was any usage of that sort relative to the time of the men it was not sanctioned by the company.

"There was a more or less general discussion of these features, which amounted to nothing. As to what was wanted, Mr. Mahon complained that the officers of the company were encouraging another organization among the men. I asked him if he objected if such were the case, and he replied that he did. I asked him if he insisted that all of our employes must belong to his association, and he also replied 'Yes' to that question. I said that, for one, I would never consent to that, or to imposing any condition whatever on the right of a man to work who was willing to work and performed what he offered to do; that he must have absolute liberty to join Mr. Mahon's or any other organization, as he pleased, and that I did not recognize the right of anybody to put constraint upon any employe in a matter of that kind.

"That is about the sum and substance of the matter. Mr. Mahon insists that the men shall belong to his association. We say that they must be free to join any association they see fit. That is the difference in a nutshell.

"Ex-Gov. Francis took no part in the discussion. Gen. Crow questioned Mr. Mahon about the agreement of March 10, and asked him if the men would be willing to go back to that if it were kept, and he said 'No, they would not.' Gov. Stephens asked some questions, and said that peace must be maintained and the property of the city and citizens protected. Mr. Hawes undertook to state to us the position of the other people. The representatives of the public said that they would see to it that peace was preserved. I do not know just what is meant by 'recognition,' but the company's position is that no man should be compelled to join Mr. Mahon's or any other association. In a word, that he should be free. That is our attitude. No time was set for another conference."

IS AFTER THEIR FRANCHISES

Delegate Robertson Seeking to Have the Rights of Every Transit Line Questioned by the House.

Delegate George F. Robertson of the Twenty-sixth, who succeeded in having a resolution passed at the session of the House of Delegates expressing the opinion that the franchises of the street railway companies should be forfeited in case they failed to run their cars, as required by the city ordinances, contemplates further action in the same direction.

He will introduce concurrent resolutions revoking the franchises of every road that is not complying with the law in regard to the running of its cars. Mr. Robertson says he will introduce a separate resolution for every division of the transit system.

He has asked City Counselor Schnurmacher to prepare the resolutions and Friday morning he gave him copies of all the ordinances touching the franchises granted the lines now part of the transit system.

"I think the House will vote to revoke these franchises if the companies do not run their cars properly," said Mr. Robertson to the Post-Dispatch. "I am not sure about what the Council will do. But I will do my best to have the resolutions adopted."

The Twenty-sixth Ward Bryan Democratic Club, of which Mr. Robertson is a member, at a meeting held Wednesday night at Brown's Hall, Whittier and North Market streets, adopted resolutions indorsing the strike and imposing a fine of $3 on any member caught riding on a street car until the strike is settled.

GENERAL UNION MEETING

Has Been Called for Sunday Night to Take Action Concerning the Strike.

A general meeting of the trades and labor bodies of St. Louis has been called to meet Sunday night at Walhalla Hall, for the purpose of considering what action shall be taken by organized labor in the city to actively support the demands of the striking street railway men.

Chairman T. D. Edwards of the strikers' grievance committee Friday morning said to the Post-Dispatch: "We have a perfect understanding with the other labor organizations of St. Louis by which we can call out all the other trades in the city on a general strike if we think it is necessary. We do not wish to avail ourselves of this measure until we have exhausted every means of settling the difficulty.

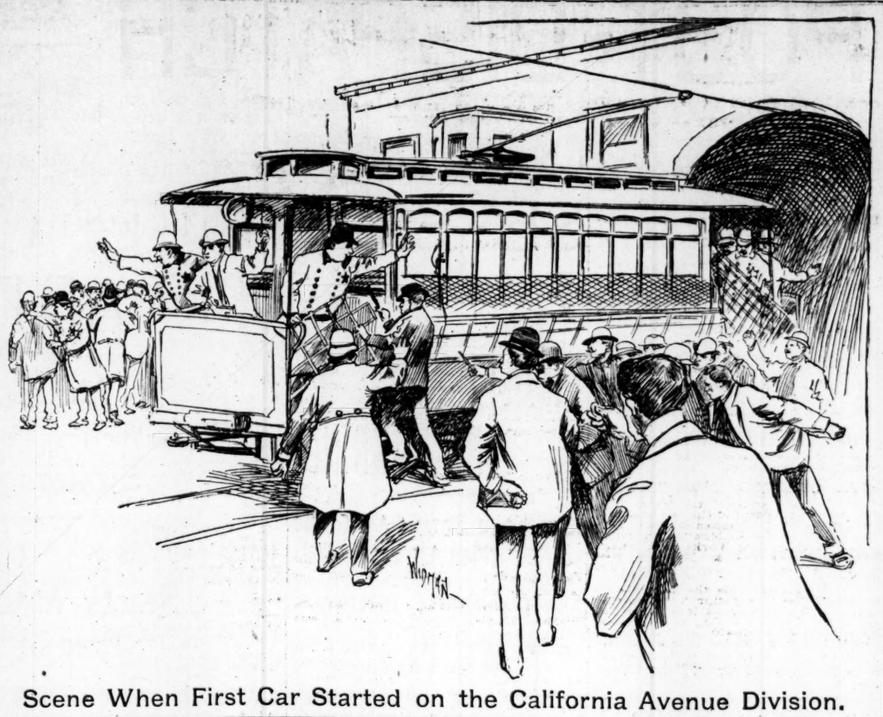

"No formal discussion of the matter has taken place, but it will come up for discussion at the Sunday meeting. The situation by Sunday should be pretty well defined, so much so that it will not be difficult for the various organizations to decide what to do about actively co-operating with us.

"The delegates from the other unions who have called on us to assure us of the moral and active support of their respective unions have represented that it is the unanimous feeling of the union men of the city that the attitude of the transit company is a direct attack upon the principles of unionism."

PREPARING FOR A SIEGE.

Taylor Avenue Sheds to Have a Cook Shop, Too.

The transit company is preparing for a long-continued siege at the Taylor avenue car sheds. Thursday night twenty more wire cots were taken into the gymnasium upstairs, with the necessary blankets and pillows. All the space in the gymnasium and the reading room is occupied by cots, making it resemble a huge hospital ward. Friday morning two large cooking ranges, of the hotel-kitchen style, arrived and were set up at the blacksmith shop in the rear of the main office. Heretofore the men have been eating from improvised tables in the office, the food being brought from downtown in clothes baskets and boxes. A force of cooks has been hired, and by night it is expected that the meals will be cooked and served hot on the premises.

"UNIONISM, PURE AND SIMPLE."

Gov. Stephens Tells the Post-Dispatch This Is the Point at Issue in the Strike.

"The whole matter is a question of unionism pure and simple.

"The men demand that the company recognize this issue by making its road a union road. The company refuses positively to do this. Meanwhile I am sorry to say the people are the unfortunate sufferers.

"I do not think that the situation has nearly reached the stage where it is expedient or necessary to call out the militia. I shall expect the police to handle the situation for some time or until it acknowledges that under the new law, with an increased force fully armed and having unusual powers, it cannot cope with the situation.

"When I am satisfied that such a crisis has arisen I shall then not hesitate to call out the military arm of the state.

"As to the conference, I can only say that I came down here to try to settle the trouble. We accomplished nothing in the conference. The situation is exactly where it was when we started in to discuss the differences between the company and the men. No arrangements were made for future meetings. Mr. Mahon did not offer to allow the company to operate any line or lines without molestation. The company has not accepted one jot of the men's demands.

"I am still hopeful that something may be done to effect a settlement. I will leave for Jefferson City to-night, where I am called on important business, but I may return in a few days."

The above statement was made by Gov. Lon V. Stephens just before his return to Jefferson City and shortly after the close of the conference between the governor, the employes' union executive committee and the representatives of the transit company.

UNIONISM TO THE LAST DITCH.

W. D. Mahon, the Union's National President, to the Post-Dispatch.

This is a fight to compel the recognition of organized labor in the city of St. Louis.

The company has refused to give us recognition. The original plan of campaign will be followed out to the letter.

There is nothing left for us to do. It is now either surrender our organization or keep up the strike until we win our point.

We are going to win. There can be no such thing as fail for us. The conference was without any result. I was fearful before we went into it that it would be without result, knowing the stand of the corporation against us, but we were only too willing to show that we are anxious to do anything that is fair and honorable to settle the trouble.

Organized labor of the city of St. Louis is with us to a man. We have been fully apprised of this fact.

Our demands are not extraordinary, as the company would have the people believe. We are not asking any more than has already been conceded to other labor bodies throughout the United States.

Every one who is well informed knows that none but union men and women can carry on some of the greatest industries in the country. If they can accomplish that much we can. I claim that unionism brings about a higher degree of efficiency and a better standard of service to the corporation.

These are the principles for which we, and if it is necessary, all organized labor in St. Louis, will contend for to the last ditch.

EMPLOYES MUST BE FREE.

Attorney Fred W. Lehmann for the Transit Co.: We left there (the conference) without any conclusion of any kind, Mr. Mahon insisting that every employe of the company must belong to his association, and we refusing to concede any principle of that kind. * * * I do not know just what is meant by "recognition," but the company's position is that no man should be compelled to join Mr. Mahon's or any other association; in a word, that he should be free. That is our attitude.

TRANSIT CO'S PRESIDENT TO THE POST-DISPATCH.

The Southern Hotel arbitration conference did not accomplish anything because Mr. Mahon and the other representatives of the union did not show and disposition to make any concessions from their original demands. They asked all that they asked in the beginning. The recognition of organized labor was a mere incident. What they stood on was their union and no other. It must be everything in the company's affairs. The company was asked to arbitrate, and then was requested to make all the concessions to secure the arbitration.

RUNNING SPRINKLING CARS

The Operation of Two on the Southern Division Leads to Reports of Its Opening.

Shortly before 11 o'clock two sprinkling cars were started downtown from the sheds of the southern division of the Transit company, at Missouri and Geyer avenues. They were manned by officials of the road and each carried three policemen. There was no demonstration when they left the sheds. The operation of these cars was considered by some of the men an indication that preparations were making to run passenger cars, but the statement given out was that the purpose was simply to keep the rails along the right of way in good order.

GUN COTTON ON THE RAIL

Supposed Attempt to Blow Up a Lindell Car Failed—No One Injured.

While car 1395 on the Lindell line was going west at Garrison and Washington avenues, shortly after 8 o'clock Friday morning, a man ran out into the track and placed a white object on the rail. The motorman paid no attention to him and did not check his car.

When the wheel struck the white object there was a deafening report, and the car was surrounded with smoke.

Passengers were terrified, but no injury was done to the car and no one was hurt. The substance placed on the track is supposed to have been gun cotton. There is no clew to the identity of the man who placed the explosive on the rail. He escaped under cover of the smoke.

BUSINESS MEN AND STRIKERS

Conference for Strike Adustment in Progress at Walhalla Hall.

At 2 o'clock Friday afternoon a meeting at which the heads of many of the large business establishments in the city, as well as the principal officials of the labor organizations, were present, opened at the strikers' headquarters at Walhalla Hall.

The purpose of the meeting is to ask the business men to call on the mayor and the police board to lay before them the union side of the strike. Among the number invited are Adolphus Busch, W. H. Woodward, David Kreyling, president of the Central Trades and Labor Union, Secretary Prendergast of the Building Trades Council, and Herman Steinbiss, national secretary of the Building Trades Council. The committee will be made up of about 25 persons.

Adolphus Busch is out of the city, but word was received from his office that a representative would be at the meeting. The mayor will first be called on, after which the committee will proceed to the Four Courts to call on the board.

M'LURE AND EDWARDS TALK.

Transit Directors and Labor Leader in a Conference.

C. D. McLure, a director of the St. Louis Transit Co., has promised to present, at a meeting of the Board of Directors, to be held Saturday morning, all of the details of the grievances claimed by the employes of the company.

T. D. Edwards, chairman of the grievance committee, called on Mr. McLure Friday morning, and they held an hour's conference at Mr. McLure's office in the Security Building. Mr. McLure said that he, as well as other directors of the transit company, was in favir of hiring union men, but as to giving employment solely to men because they belonged to a union, he wavered, saying:

"I am neither for nor against the union, and have got to have time to thing over the matter."

Mr. Edwards was as emphatic in saying that the settlement of the strike depended upon the recognition of the union and union laws. Mr. McLure promised to talk the subject over with the Board of Directors Saturday morning and report to Mr. Edwards the result following. Mr. McLure was careful to take notations of all the points specific and otherwise that were preferred by Mr. Edwards, so that he could lay them before the board.

All Suburban Cars Out.

Cars are running on the entire Suburban system Friday on almost the regular schedule. The main line and branches were started between 6 and 7 o'clock and it is announced that the service will be continued through the day, but it is not known whether the cars will run Friday night.

Cars were started on the Suburban line at 6 o'clock Friday morning and were run through to Sixth and Locust streets without incident.

The regular schedule is being maintained as nearly as possible, but owing to the vehicles which crowd the downtown streets the intervals vary.

Car No. 167 was the first to leave the Suburban sheds at De Hodiamont. It was followed immediately by 170, 173 and 179 on the main line. Then Meramec and Benton car 322 was started out. This was the first car run over this division since Monday night. It was followed shortly by the O'Fallon Park, Webster and Benton cars. Soon cars were being run over the entire Suburban system, and by 9 o'clock 37 cars had reached Sixth and Locust streets. Here the trolleys were reversed and the cars started on the return trip, not running around the loop.

The cars were well filled with passengers and policemen accompanied each car, one on the front and one on the rear platform.

Type Founders and Trunk Makers.

The St. Louis Type Founders' Union has indorsed the union strike on the Suburban and the transit companies' roads and has announced that it will impose a fine of $3 upon any member of the union found riding on these cars during the strike.

The local union of the trunk and bagworkers has passed similar resolutions and a fine of $2 will be imposed upon its members for riding on the cars of these companies.

Gift From Brewery Drivers.

A gift of $100 was made to the striking streetcar men by the Beerdrivers and Stablemen's Union No. 43 Friday. This was subscribed at a meeting held at the union's headquarters at Third and Allen avenue Thursday night. Another meeting will be held Monday evening at the same place if the streetcar strike is not settled by that time, and a further gift will be given them.

STRIKE NEAR AT KANSAS CITY

Metropolitan Street Railway Company Declines to Recognize Employes' Union.

KANSAS CITY, May 11.—Walton Holmes, president of the Metropolitan Street Railway Co., to-day refused to grant the demands of the conductors, motormen and gripmen for recognition of their union and a uniform scale of wages, and a strike of all the lines in Kansas City, Mo., and Kansas City, Kan., will likely be ordered late this afternoon.

At noon to-day a committee of employes representing Division No. 133 of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employes of America waited upon President Holmes and submitted the following demands:

That the railway company agree to recognize and treat with the employes' association in regard to any and all grievances that may arise; that in cases where a satisfactory decision cannot be made the company agree to submit to arbitration; that all men who have been in the employ of the company one year or over shall be paid at the rate of 20 cents an hour; all men who have been in the company's employ less than one year to receive 19 cents an hour; that a uniform workday of 10 hours be inaugurated and that all men discharged by the company since May 1, and against whom no charges of improper conduct have been proven, be reinstated.

The reference to reinstatement involves the discharge of 60 employes who have been let out by the company within the past few days because, apparently, of their having joined the union, which has but recently been organized in Kansas City.

The conference consumed but a few minutes' time, Mr. Holmes refusing absolutely to grant the demands or consider further propositions. The committee withdrew and called a meeting of the strike leaders to decide what action shall be taken.

It seems practically certain that a strike will be ordered, to take effect immediately, and that a stubborn fight will ensue.

The Metropolitan company operates all the lines in both Kansas Cities, save a small one run by the Helm Brewing Co., and employs about 1600 men.

THE HEALTH OF YOUNG WOMEN

Two of Them Helped by Mrs. Pinkham —Read their Letters.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am sixteen years old and am troubled with my monthly sickness. It is very irregular, occurring only once in two or three months, and also very painful. I also suffer with cramps and once in a while pain strikes me in the heart and I have drowsy headaches. If there is anything you can do for me, I will gladly follow your advice."—MISS MARY GOMES, Aptos, Cal., July 31, 1898.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—After receiving your letter I began the use of your remedies, taking both Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier. I am now regular every month and suffer no pain. Your medicine is the best that any suffering girl can take."—MISS MARY GOMES, Aptos, Cal., July 6, 1899.

Nervous and Dizzy

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to express my thanks to you for the great benefit I have received from the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I suffered constantly from terrible sideache, had chills, was nervous and dizzy. I had tried different kinds of medicine but they all failed entirely. After taking three bottles of Vegetable Compound and three of Blood Purifier I am all right. I cannot thank you enough for what your remedies have done for me."—MISS MATILDA JENSEN, Box 18, Ogdensburg, Wis., June 10, 1899.

BANQUET FOR GEN. OTIS.

President Not Sure of Propriety of Going to Rochester.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Representative O'Grady introduced to the President to-day a number of prominent citizens of Rochester, N. Y., who came to invite him to attend the reception and banquet to be given to Gen. Otis on his return from the Philippines on June 15. The President spoke of Gen. Otis in terms of high praise and said he would esteem it a privilege to join in doing him honor. He questioned, however, the propriety of his doing so. No one, in his judgment, should be present who, by reason of his superior rank, would necessarily share the honors which were intended for Gen. Otis alone. He would, however, talk the matter over with Secretary Root and in any event the regular army would be represented by such troops as were available.

DONOVAN HELD BY THE CORONER.

Inquest Places Responsibility for the Death of Frank Liebrecht, Who Was Killed in Strike Riot.

Coroner Lloyd held an inquest Friday morning over the body of Frank Liebrecht, who was shot and killed during a riot at Taylor avenue, on the Suburban tracks, Wednesday night.

Dan Donovan of 343 Cabanne court, who was on the car from which the shot was fired and admitted that he fired into the crowd, was held for the felonious killing of Liebrecht.

The witnesses to the shooting were at the Four Courts when the inquest was held, and after the result was made known set to work to have warrants against Donovan issued.

Representatives of the Suburban line were present and announced their intention to stand by Donovan.

NEARLY WEDDED WRONG WOMAN

Patrick Halpin Come Within an Ace of Losing the Bride He Wanted and Being Tied to Another.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

OMAHA, Neb., May 11.—"Are you marrying us, judge?" was the query startling a judge yesterday. Because if you are I am not the bride, she's over there."

And then the judge destroyed the record and began over again. It was a narrow escape. The questions had been answered and the judge was about to kiss the bride when the discovery was made. The bride's bashfulness was responsible for the mistake.

There were three in the wedding party. The bridegroom in the license gave his age at 59, but to all appearances he was ten years older. His name was Patrick Halpin, and his home Illinois. The bride did not appear to be older than 17. She told the clerk that her name was Melissa Needham, and that she lived in Burt County.

The third member of the party was Mary Robinson of Lake View, Io. Miss Needham's sister, who vouched for her being of legal age and attended to all the details of the wedding. While the arrangements were being made the bride sat quietly in an out of the way corner. The bridegroom, hard of hearing and slow of comprehension, was an interested listener.

When the judge entered the room he observed that Mary Robinson was more nearly the bridegroom's point of age, and as she did all the talking, he naturally supposed that she was the bride to be. He accordingly instructed her to take Halpin's hand and began the ceremony. Then it dawned upon Miss Robinson that she was being married and explanations were in order.

SKULL IN A SECRET CLOSET

Accidental Touching of a Panel Reveals Ghastly Evidence of a Mystery in an Old Mansion.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

RICHMOND, Va., May 11.—Miss Gulie Harrison, who lives at her ancestral home, Lower Brandon, on James River, has just discovered, accidentally, a secret repository in the left wing of this colonial mansion. She touched a secret panel in the wall and to her amazement the panel noiselessly and easily slid back and a dark closet was revealed. The secret chamber was investigated and was found to contain a human skull.

The Harrisons have lived at Lower Brandon for more than a hundred years and never in the history of the family has this secret apartment been known to open—in fact the present members of the family did not even known of its existence. The Harrison family is particularly free from even traditions of tragedies, and the unknown sleeper must have met his fate through accident and not design. Nearly all of the colonial mansions were built with underground passages and secret chambers.

The Harrisons at Lower Brandon are cousins of Mayor Carter Harrison of Chicago and ex-President Benjamin Harrison. Mayor Harrison visited the place several months ago.

EYEBROWS TELL OF THE BRAIN

Homeopathic Specialist Says Where They Are Irregular They Are an Indication of Insanity.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, May 11.—"Irregular eyebrows are an indication of insanity," said Dr. E. T. Allen to the homeopathic doctors in convention here.

"I have found that where the brows were not symmetrical the mind was not what it should be. Whether the brain affects the growth of brows or not I am not prepared to say, but certainly where they are uneven, I have found that the mind is lacking in some requirement."

Dr. Allen showed many pictures of the insane. In a portrait the difference in eyebrow elevation was marked. He pointed out that all subjects looked up from under the lashes and this, he said, was another indication of insanity.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 11.—The strike of the motormen and conductors on the Little Rock street railway came to an end last night. O'SULLIVAN'S

TAKES A HIGH PLACE.

Stands Well in the Estimation of the People.

Attention Is Naturally Excited When Anything Is Praised by People Whom We Know.

A thing that stands high in the estimation of the public, and which is especially recommended by Missouri people, naturally excites our attention more than if our own people did not praise the article. Such a thing is going on right here in Missouri every day—people are praising Morrow's Kid-ne-oids because they cure. There is no humbug, no deception; they do positively cure, and we furnish the evidence.

We refer you to J. G. Kaufman, the painter, residing at 306 East Eighteenth street, Kansas City, Mo., who says: "I suffered for a long time with kidney trouble and tried kidney remedies and doctors. I was so badly afflicted with lame back that I could not turn over in bed or stand erect. The pain in my back across the kidneys made it impossible for me to get a good night's rest. I was very nervous and irritable at times. Any little noise would startle me; I felt all out of sorts. I heard so much about Morrow's Kid-ne-oids that I got a package. The prompt action of the Kid-ne-oids was a great surprise, entirely relieving me of kidney backache and soon restoring my shattered nerves so I can sleep the whole night long."

Morrow's Kid-ne-oids are not pills, but Yellow Tablets, and are put up in wooden boxes, which contain enough for about two weeks' treatment, and sell at 50 cents a box at all drug stores.

WITHIN TWENTY MILES OF BOER STRONGHOLD.

Lord Roberts Will Soon Reach the Enemy's Position at Kroonstad.

BATTLE OF RIET SPRUIT.

THE BOERS HELD ON UNTIL THEIR FLANK WAS THREATENED BY THE BRITISH.

Roberts Keeps in Close Touch With His Advance and Seems Determined to Drive the Burghers Over the Vaal.

LONDON, May 11.—Lord Roberts' cavalry is only 22 miles from Kroonstad, while the main army is only 11 miles behind them. In 24 hours the British should be within striking distance of the Orange Free State headquarters. The critics differ widely in opinions as to whether any determined stand will be made there by the Boers.

The presence of 10,000 Boers in the neighborhood of Thaba N'Chu is confirmed. They are holding a line 20 miles north to southeast of Thaba N'Chu. A Boer patrol was sighted Thursday at Thaba Patchoa. A detachment of Brabant's Horse pursued the Burghers, who retired after some fighting. The Brabants then took up a position on a hill, which they are now holding. There were few casualties on the British side. The Boer headquarters are at Eden. More fighting is expected.

Lord Roberts telegraphs to the war office from Riet Spruit of Thursday's operations as follows:

"We have had a successful day and have driven the enemy from point to point. French, with Porter's and Dickson's brigades of cavalry and Hutton's mounted infantry, crossed the Zand at Vermenten's Kraal and then worked round in a northeasterly direction to Maatschaphy, being opposed continuously by the enemy. Pole-Carew's division and Gordon's cavalry brigade augmented by "J" Battery of the Royal Horse Artillery and by Henry's and Rosse's mounted infantry, crossed the river by a drift near the railway bridge. My quarters accompanied this force.

"With the infantry portion we are eight miles north of the river. The cavalry and mounted infantry are at Ventersburg Road Station and Tucker's division is at Doelfonteinnord. Ian Hamilton's force and Broadwood cavalry brigade were making for the cross-roads near Ventersburg when I last heard from them. Hamilton's column met with stubborn resistance and Smith-Doorlen's brigade was engaged for some hours in protecting the rear and flank of his force.

"The only casualties reported at present are: Killed, rank and file, four; wounded, five returns yet received from the cavalry and Hamilton's force."

TLE OF RIET SPRUIT

The Boers Fought Valiantly but Retreated When Vastly Outnumbered.

LONDON, May 11.—The fighting at Riet Spruit (small river) was severe. The Boers fought bravely and only fell back when greatly outnumbered and threatened on the flanks.

Gen. Hamilton's scout had on two previous days ascertained the Boers' position and strength. On Wednesday night the Cheshire Regiment crossed the river, entrenched themselves and prepared to hold the passage for the regiments following them.

At daybreak on Thursday the main body crossed at two or three points. The mounted infantry were then in action driving off the advance Boers, preparatory to a general forward movement. The Boer right first gave way, but Tucker and Hamilton had a tougher task on the left. The Boers had six guns and served them well, working with great determination; but the British worked up closer and closer, their guns meantime firing incessantly.

The East Lancashire and Sussex Regiments by 11 o'clock had worked well to the front. The order was given and like a flash the two regiments sprang forward simultaneously and in a few moments had secured two commanding ridges.

The advanced line was now within 1200 yards of the Boers' main trench and the latter were already losing heart from the demonstration on their flank, but they kept up a rapid though wild fire.

At this moment the final charge was ordered, and away went the Lancashires and the Sussex Regiments, but the Boers could not stand, and they fairly bolted, and the rout of the Boers along the whole line was then completed.

The Daily Express, in its second edition this morning publishes a dispatch describing the crossing of the Zand River by the British. It says:

"The rear guard of the Boers with their guns resisted the advance. The mounted infantry, two batteries and pompoms cleared the way and the Third Cavalry Brigade acted as a screen before the main column. Gen. French was on the left and Gen. Hamilton on the right. The Boers had destroyed all the bridges during the retreat.

"It is impossible to ascertain the Boer losses, but they are thought to be heavy. Those of the British, considering the march made, are light."

A MESSAGE TO AMERICANS

The Boer Envoys Are Seeking Means of Mediation.

LONDON, May 11.—W. T. Stead, who was the last man in Europe to bid farewell to the Boer delegates, obtained from Abaraham Fischer, a member of the Orange Free State executive council, and one of the delegates, a message to the American people. The message follows:

The governments of the Old World appear paralyzed. We hope to find a different state of things in the New World. * * *

We know that at the very time when the Jameson raid threatened the independence of the Transvaal the American Republic succeeded in inducing Great Britain to submit to arbitration a question which involved not her existence, but the frontier interests of the republic of Venezuela.

As you obtained arbitration for Venezuela after England had declared it was impossible, so we venture to hope the free, enlightened public opinion of the American people will succeed in inducing the power attacking our very existence to stay her hand and submit the question of the future government of these regions to the free judgment of an impartial tribunal.

THE BOER CAUSE GAINS

New York Republican Leader Makes Significant Admission at a Meeting.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Edward Lauterbach created a sensation at a meeting last night of the citizens' committee, which is arranging for the entertainment of the Boer envoys who are expected on the Maasdam next Tuesday. Addressing the meeting, Mr. Lauterbach said:

"Neither of the two great political parties has taken any definite action on the question of this government with respect to the Boer war. My own party has not seen fit to define its position. It is equally true that no other nation has done so. But judgment has gone by default against England in all civilized countries because of her action in South Africa. In our own country and in my own party I believe there is a latent fire that will require but a small amount of fanning to cause it to break into a vast and powerful flame that will inspire the people who love justice, freedom and all that tends to a higher civilization and right. I believe the Republican party is irrevocably lost if it leaves to the Democratic party the first opportunity to insert in its national platform a plank that will declare for the South African republics. In Michigan the Republicans take the same stand with regard to the national party. I am unalterably opposed to leaving such action to the Democrats.

"I am a delegate to the convention, and I shall struggle and work harder there for a Boer plank in the platform than I worked and struggled for a gold plank in the platform that was made up at St. Louis."

Rev. Fr. Ducey, who preceded Mr. Lauterbach, said:

"This country cannot afford to go to war over this question. We can talk now and arbitrate later. When the Boers want is sympathy and arbitration."

A committee was appointed to go down the bay to meet the envoys. The committee will conduct them to the City Hall and introduce them to the mayor. It is contemplated that a mass meeting will be held in the City Hall Park and that the envoys will address the people from the steps of the City Hall.

HE FELT QUITE GLIB

EFFECT OF THE "SINGING CIDER FLIP" ON A DRINKER.

PRODUCT OF PEMISCOT COUNTY

D. W. Bishop Seller of It and "The Exhilarating Log Cabin Cherry Bitters" in Court in Consequence.

D. W. Bishop, a merchant of Pemiscot County, was placed on trial in the United States District Court Friday morning on the charge of selling liquor without a government license.

Among other liquids which Bishop is said to have offered for sale was one styled "The Singing Cider Flip." Another preparation he called "The Exhilarating Log Cabin Cherry Bitters."

The Federal authorities sought to prove that these liquids were intoxicating.

The chief witness for the prosecution was James Thompson, who lives near Bishop.

"What effect did the 'Singing Cider Flip' have upon you?" he was asked.

"Well, I reckon it made me quite jolly."

"How did you feel?"

"Quite glib."

"And the other boys who were with you?"

"They acted pretty smart, too."

"Did you buy the bitters for medicine?"

"No, only when I wanted to have a good time with the boys."

Other witnesses testified along the same lines.

Bishop is 50 years old and has been in business in Pemiscot County for years. He said the bitters were a medicinal preparation, made by a St. Louis company. The chemist of the latter company was present and his testimony was submitted to the jury.

The case was argued briefly and the jury retired at noon to decide Bishop's fate.

NO TROUBLE THERE

EAST ST. LOUIS CAR LINES RUNNING AS USUAL.

FEW QUIT AND WERE REPLACED

Otherwise the Roads Are Operated—Statement Answering the Grievances Presented to Companies.

EMPLOYES' DEMANDS.

A thorough investigation of all charges against employes before dismissal.

Swing runs be dispensed with and employes be given straight 10-hour runs.

A uniform schedule of 20 cents an hour.

Extra men who report at the car sheds daily for emergency runs, as ordered by the superintendent, shall receive half pay for the time spent in waiting for these runs.

When an employe misses a run under the rules of the company, he shall not lose his position, but, instead, shall be liable to a 10-day layoff for each offense.

That Thomas H. McKenna and F. R. Houle, two employes, recently discharged because of an accident, be given a new investigation, and so be enabled, as they think, to exonerate themselves and thus be reinstated.

F. B. REYNOLDS,
WILLIAN SHERMAN,
DENNIS POWDERLY,
F. R. HOULE,
Committee.

A committee from St. Louis was working in East St. Louis Thursday trying to induce the conductors and motormen of the East St. Louis Electric Street Railway Co. to go out in sympathy with the strike now on in St. Louis. About a dozen men were induced at one time and another during the afternoon and evening to step off their cars, but their places were filled at once and one would hardly have known that there was any trouble brewing, as the cars all ran on schedule time. The event was exaggerated, however and on Friday morning had grown to so great an extent that many people believed that a strike was on, although the cars were running as usual.

Supt. Mike Harrold was seen at the company's office and he made the following statement to the Post-Dispatch:

"Some 10 men quit last night, and most of them reported for work again this morning. On Missouri avenue we run three cars, and they really are not needed, as the patrons use the two Belleville lines. They are not running now. We will run them Saturday, however, and could have done so Friday, as we had men who wanted to take them out.

"In reply to the petition which was submitted to us and which has been published, we will simply say: 1. McKenna and Houle were discharged for incompetency, and we claim the right to let them out for that clause. 2. Regarding 'swing men,' that is the first job a man gets when he comes to work here. As fast as he proves that he is competent he is promoted. 3. Regarding the demand for $2 a day, all our men are getting $2.25 a day. Even the new men get this, but they have to work a little longer, say 11 hours, or sometimes as high as 12 hours. 4. Regarding 'misses,' our rules are that if a man misses his car he is laid off four days for the first offense, eight days for the second, and if the third miss occurs inside of 12 mounths he loses his run. We consider that we are responsible to the public to give them a first-class service and we simply must enforce discipline among our men. 5. This road has no 'emergency' crews, or 'waiting crews' laying around waiting for accidents, like most of the other roads have. Our men must stay with their cars till they are brought to the sheds, and for this they are paid full time. 6. Regarding arbitration in cases of grievance, we simply will not agree to it. This is what is causing the trouble in St. Louis. We claim the right to hire and discharge our men as we see fit. Section 7 is about the same. We have nothing to arbitrate. We treat our men right and they all say so."

In proof of the last assertion Mr. Herrold showed the Post-Dispatch a statement which was drawn up early last April. It was unasked for, but was handed in voluntarily by the men. It said that they had heard rumors of dissatisfaction, and, wishing to set themselves right with the company, would state that they were entirely satisfied with the wages, hours and treatment accorded them, that they thanked the company for the raise of 12½ per cent (or 25 cents a day), which had just been given them without any request having been made for such an increase, and for the new equipment which the road had just placed in operation, that they were satisfied in every detail and particular and would assure the company that they would faithfully perform every duty assigned to them. This was signed, by 58 of the 70 men working at that time.

Half an hour after the story got out Thursday night that there was trouble every man in the employ of the company had reported to assure the company, as an individual, that he was ready to go to work and would stay with the company. All these men were already on the company's pay roll. There had been no new men hired at all. They had more regular men and extras now than they could use, and when the last car went out Friday morning one extra was heard to remark:

"This is a —— of a strike when there are not enough men out to let an extra man make a dollar or two."

Nearly a dozen of the conductors and motormen were seen and they all told the same story. All were satisfied and would not quit work just to oblige a committee of men from the other side.

"We'd be fools to quit a good job on account of the trouble of the St. Louis fellows," said one. "A man comes to work here and he's treated white and gets good stuff. There's fellows here from Cairo who'd take our jobs too quick. They only get $1.25 a day down there and I don't blame them for quitting. We feel sorry for the St. Louis men, but we are not going to lose our jobs for sympathy. It will only hurt us and won't help them."

LITTLE GIRL HURT.

Flora Siegfried Was Struck by a Brick Thrown at a Car.

Little Flora Siegfried, the 10-year-old daughter of Joseph Siegfried of 1905 Wash street, who was one of the victims of the strike Thursday, was reported as resting easily Friday morning. Though it was thought at first that she was mortally injured, she is now believed to have a chance of recovery.

The child was carrying her baby sister from the family home to that of a neighbor when she was injured. As she was opening the door of the neighbor's house, a Suburban car passed. Some one on the opposite side of the street threw a brick at the car; it passed over and struck the girl in the head, inflicting a severe scalp wound and causing concussion of the brain.

RIFLES AND CARTRIDGES.

Shipment of 1000 Springfields and 20,000 Rounds Received.

A shipment of 1000 Springfield rifles and 20,000 rounds of ammunition reached St. Louis from Jefferson City Thursday. They were consigned to the chief of police. The guns and ammunition were taken to the Chestnut street police station, where they are now stored. They are the property of the National Guard and were sent here at the request of Chief Campbell for use in case of an emergency. The guns and ammunition are guarded by a detail of ten policemen.

CAPITAL $70,000,000

NEW YORK TRUST TO BE FORMED OF BRIDGE COMPANIES.

ALL LARGE CONCERNS IN IT.

The Organization Is Under the Management of J. Pierpont Morgan & Co.

NEW YORK, May 11.—The American Bridge Co., with 30 or more separate companies and a capital of $70,000,000, will, it is announced, be formed at the offices of J. P. Morgan & Co., in this city, to-morrow forenoon. The $70,000,000 capital is, according to those who are in position to know, to be divided equally between common and preferred stock. The companies represented by the combination comprise about 90 per cent of all those doing business in this country. It is understood that one of the latest companies to go in was the Berlin Iron Bridge Co. of New Haven, Conn., said to be the only large bridge company in New England. It is understood that President Jarvis of the Berlin company is to be president of the new organization. Some of the companies which have agreed to enter the combination are the A. & F. Roberts Pencoyd Works, the Carnegie Keystone Works, Post & McCord's New Jersey Steel and Iron Co. and the Union Bridge Co.

Up to the present time the men engaged in forming the combination have been unable to induce the Trenton Iron Co., owned by Cooper, Hewitt & Co., of which ex-Mayor Abram S. Hewitt of this city is president, to come in, but it was said last night that the prospect of getting them in was better than at any time heretofore. Ex-Mayor Hewitt, when seen last night, said:

"I know that it is commonly reported in the steel trade that a bridge-building combination is being formed by J. P. Morgan & Co. of this city. I would not be at all surprised if the story proved to be true."

"Will the combination include your company?" he was asked.

"We have made no arrangements with reference to going in. We should be very happy to go in if the terms were made satisfactory. It would be necessary for the organizers to buy our works outright, and, as I said before, we shall sell if the price is made attractive to us. I know nothing definite about the progress being made by those who are organizing the central company, as our company has made no arrangement to go into it."

He was followed by Congressman Richard Bartholdt, who spoke upon the same subject in the German language.

Speeches were also made by several representatives of the G. A. R.

At the conclusion of the ceremony a resolution was passed requesting the representatives in Congress to endeavor to secure the passage of an act giving the eastern portion of the arsenal grounds to the city.

WEARY WALKERS

CHANGES.

The winds are crisp and even cool;
The skies are fair and flowers are gay,
Yet heavy clothing is the rule,
In May.

Ere long the mercury will stand
One hundred in the shade at noon,
And thirst will reign throughout the land,
In June.

NOAH HEEP.

"I tell you what," said the Fat Man, "I don't mind walking a couple o' blocks at lunch time, but I draw the line on these Grand avenue sprints. Hey, there! Wait a minute!"

And with that he waddled over and crawled into the ice wagon which pulled up at the curb.

"That's the kind o' talk that makes me sick," said the Thin Man, gazing after the fat one. "Why doesn't he walk a few lines and find out how much there is of himself? If there was more walking in the world, there wouldn't be so much adipose tissue. As for myself, I'm thin. I don't have to walk."

And he hailed a furniture van.

"This is fun!" exclaimed the Pretty Girl, perched on a high seat on a lumber wagon. "This is more fun than walking, but I would walk, you know, if it wouldn't make me so late getting home."

"I'd walk down this morning if I didn't have this old wheel so handy," said the Pale Bookkeeper. "Besides, I might be late at the office."

"I don't mind walking, at all," said the Budding Humorist, "but the doctor says it's bad for the teeth."

All of which goes to show that people try to deceive themselves and each other about unimportant matters; that there is a great dearth of activity in the springtime. Also, these few "well chosen words" remind us that the street car strike is still on.

The series of Ten Novelettes commenced last week by the Sunday Post-Dispatch is attracting wide attention. The first contribution was by Gertrude Atherton. Next Sunday's novelette will be "Hasty Minds," by Howard Fielding. Stephen Crane will be third on the list. With such offerings as these the public may well expect something good, and it will receive it.

All of these novelettes are by story writers of the first class. There will be ten of them which will carry the reader well into the summer.

A conversation on a topic of international interest, conducted by telegraph by three political leaders in three Western states, will be an important feature of the next Sunday Post-Dispatch.

For the purpose of arranging this long distance conversation a Sunday Post-Dispatch representative visited these three men at their homes in Missouri, Arkansas and Kansas, respectively, and saw that the details were fully carried out. Then, at a stated time, with hundreds of miles between, but with direct telegraphic communication, commenced this unique conference between these three distinguished men and the editor of the Sunday Post-Dispatch.

The subject which they discussed is one in which the whole world is interested. This statement sounds broad, but it is none too comprehensive. Besides, a long distance conversation of this kind, for publication, was never before conducted in the United States. It is an idea absolutely new.

All this is not said for the purpose of exciting idle curiosity in your mind, diligent reader, but for the purpose of getting you interested in an idea that really deserved the title of unique, which will be published in the next Sunday Post-Dispatch.

Much has been printed and said concerning the total eclipse of the sun on Monday, May 28, but the manner in which the subject will be treated in the next Sunday Post-Dispatch will be entirely new. Everything at all worth knowing about the coming eclipse will be told in plain terms, so that the layman will understand exactly.

Almost every kind of girl on earth has been sung about at some time or other, and particularly in these musical times when songs are such a rage. Unfortunately, one girl—and a very charming girl, at that—was overlooked in the rush. It remained for Dick Thomas to sing her praises, and he has done so in a new song, "My Department Store Girl," which will be given free with each copy of the next Sunday Post-Dispatch.

One of the funniest features ever produced in the Comic Supplement of the Sunday Post-Dispatch is "The Sad Story of Bunco Bill, as Narrated Pictorially by Himself," which will be published in the next issue. This is undoubtedly one of the cleverest pieces of work that Artist Cory ever did, and it is destined to create many thousands of laughs.

Two special artists and two special correspondents, representing the Sunday Post-Dispatch, will tell you almost as much about the Paris Exposition as you would learn if you were there. See their contributions next Sunday.

The great Pan-American Beauty Contest, which was inaugurated by the Sunday Post-Dispatch and the New York World, and which has been raging for several months, will close June 1. No photographs will be received or published after that time.

The hundreds of beautiful women whose photographs have been published as halftones in the Sunday Post-Dispatch in this connection will be glad to learn the personnel of the committee which is to decide their fate. Here are the names:

Mrs. Henry Siegel, formerly of St. Louis.
Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske, actress.
Mrs. Jefferson Davis.
Mrs. Harriet Hubbard Ayer.
Irving G. Wiles of the Society of American Artists.
J. G. Brown of the National Academy of Design.
Roy Crandall, chairman of the Pan-American Exposition committee on publicity.
August Langebahn, sculptor, who will design the medal from the photographs decided upon.
Conrad Diehl, mayor of Buffalo, N. Y.

A decision will be rendered by this committee as soon as possible after June 1, and the result will be announced by the Sunday Post-Dispatch. The faces of the two winners will be utilized in designing the official medal of the Pan-American Exposition to be held at Buffalo next year.

St. Louis furnishes the first wholesale example, as far as known, of an institution where a considerable number of women are employed at the same wages paid to men.

This institution happens to be one in which nearly every St. Louisan is interested. Therefore the facts which will be presented by the next Sunday Post-Dispatch in this conection will be valuable.

These are only a few of the notable features which will brighten the pages of the next Sunday Post-Dispatch, entertain and edify its readers and help preserve its reputation as the most artistic and valuable newspaper published in St. Louis or the West.

"CAPT." KING DEAD

KNOWN TO ALL ST. LOUIS DRINKERS AS A SKILLED MIXER.

HIS FAMOUS LINE OF REMEDIES.

For Years He Quenched the Thirsts of the Rich and Influential, Whom He Called His Friends.

Many men in St. Louis will mourn the death of William B. King, who passed away at his home at 4157 Olive street, Thursday. Except during a few short intervals he had served drinks to the wealthy and fashionable of St. Louis for nearly 40 years. He numbered his friends by the hundred, and the gathering at his funeral promises to be a notable one. Capitalists and professional men have signified their intention of accompanying his body to its last resting place.

The dead man was known for years as Capt. King. The title is believed to have been complimentary, though he himself never talked about it. Though his whole career in St. Louis was devoted to service behind the bar he was treated as a personal friend by many men who stand high in St. Louis' business community.

King was employed in St. Louis at the Southern Hotel and afterwards at the old Planters'. After conducting an establishment of his own in Cincinnati for a while, he returned to St. Louis and kept a saloon at 517 Olive street. Lack of managerial ability caused him to fail in this venture, and three years ago he entered the employ of Harry Harris in the Equitable Building. For many years King was famous for his skill in concocting mixed drinks, and his punches were a by word with a large coterie of bar patrons.

He achieved almost equal distinction in his line through his Manhattan cocktail.

Aside from his skill in mixing drinks King was an interesting character. He had a never failing fund of anecdote and reminiscence. He was noted for the readiness with which he could suggest a remedy for any of the ills that flesh is heir to. A slight stammer added piquancy to the droll way in which he would deliver his verbal prescriptions. Many a man sought him out with no other purpose than to get from him directions for the cure of some physical ill.

"Capt." King's death resulted from a corn which necessitated the amputation of his toe. The operation was at first considered successful but blood poisoning developed. Arrangements for the funeral have not been made.

CAUGHT BY HIS OWN ADMISSION

How Charles Tedtman Learned That Carrying a Billy Is Dangerous Here.

Charles Tedtman, late of Chicago, had an experience with a few St. Louis men Friday morning that filled him with disgust, not to say chagrin.

Tedtman came to this city, according to his own statement, only last week, he says, to take a position as inspector on the Suburban road. Last Sunday he rode on the front of a car that was boarded during its travels by Oliver Padfield and Edward F. Putney, addresses and occupations unknown. Observations on the prospective strike led to a personal altercation between Messrs. Padfield and Putney on one side and the motorman and conductor on the other. Tedtman, whom the two passengers thought to be a disinterested party, settled the argument by using a "billy" over their heads and then having them both arrested.

The cases against Padfield and Putney were continued Monday until Friday morning, when they came up before Judge Sidener. It was when Tedtman took the witness stand that it became known that he was a Chicago importation. Judge Sidener asked him why he carried a "billy" and he replied that "everybody in Chicago carried one." On hearing Tedtman's story the court discharged the defendants.

Tedtman turned to go, but a well-dressed stranger tapped him on the shoulder and said:

"I would like to speak to you for a moment."

Tedtman told the stranger that he did not know him, but he agreed to walk out from the courtroom with him to hear what he had to say. As they passed through the Central Police Station office the stranger grabbed Tedtman and exclaimed to Capt. Reynolds:

"Captain, arrest this man. I will prefer a charge of carrying concealed weapons against him."

Tedtman was astounded, but as he had admitted in court that he had the weapon, he could make no defense. He was locked up and his "billy" put on ice.

The stranger was Ed Albright, member of the House of Delegates, a friend of the two men against whom Tedtman had appeared.

CONCERNING REAL ESTATE.

A Large Loan at 4 Per Cent—Auctions Saturday.

A deed of trust was filed yesterday to secure a loan of $170,000, made for 10 years at 4 per cent on the property on the northeast corner of Washington avenue and Tenth street, owned by the Martin estate. The money came from St. Louis people, and belonged to an estate here.

Lots at Auction.

The auction to be conducted Saturday by Henry Hiemenz, Jr., in Magnolia Heights is intended to close out that tract, and under such circumstances prices generally rule low. Lots front on Magnolia, Tennessee, Arkansas and Sidney, in a district that may be said to be truly one of the handsomest localities in the city for cozy homes. Only one-fourth cash will be required, so that speculators or parties looking for an investment can find it there.

Acres at Auction.

Persons who desire to secure land near the city limits in acre tracts, either large or small, should bear in mind the auction sale to be conducted by the Mercantile Trust Co. at 3 p. m. to-morrow on the premises. The property lies on Suburban electric line, between the city limits and Normandy, and is a beautiful location. Full particulars, with a colored plat, can be had at the office of the Mercantile Trust Co.

CARE FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

Setting Forth the Relation of the Copeland Practice to the Diseases of Women and Children.

It is quite an important matter and a vital one, this relation of the Copeland School of Practice to the Diseases of Women and Children.

How necessary and important a knowledge of it is to those whose duty requires them to provide for and take care of sick ones may be observed when we notice the wrecks that have been caused by the continued taking of violent drugs and drastic medicines.

The delicate organs of the children, which respond so readily and so hopefully to proper dosage, is certainly the most dangerous field in the world for the severe methods of the old school; when the child was sick the old school doctor was called in and gave the little ones doses of a powerful, bad tasting medicine, against which the child fought with might and main, struggling and writhing in the mother's arms, and, screaming with fear and torture, the little one was forced to swallow the nauseating draught. This plan of treatment of infants by the old school doctors was often worse than the disease it was given for.

Deafness itself is a deplorable defect in any case, but when a child is the victim the deepest sympathy is called for. The child may have a bright and eager intellect and mental gifts of the highest order, but if the hearing is defective these remain uncultivated, and the victim is robbed of all that life gives to those who are richly endowed by nature.

GRATEFUL PARENTS

Collinsville, Ill., April 15th, 1900.

COPELAND MEDICAL INSTITUTE,

Gentlemen:—

I hasten to answer your letter of the 10th. I shall be glad to have you use any or all of the letters I have written in the papers or in any other way. My little girl is 3 years old; she had sickness all the time and both her ears were running and also her nose. The discharge was so great I couldn't keep them clean, and there was a very offensive odor. We had taken her to the family doctor, but she didn't improve very much under his care, so we decided to try the Copeland treatment, we had heard and read so much about. Now our little Hazel is well and you can be very sure we are more than thankful for it. Any one can address us at Peters, Ill., which is our post-office. Very truly yours,

MRS. MATTIE PARADEE.

LET BUSINESS BE RESUMED.

Thursday the strike situation cleared up considerably. There was no rioting. Cars on the Suburban and Lindell lines were run under police protection without interruption. Crowds in the main were dispersed, and there was no repetition of the disgraceful incidents of Tuesday. The strike leaders emphasized to the governor and the police authorities their willingness to co-operate by offering to supply 500 men to maintain order and prevent the stoppage of street-car traffic. There is apparent accord between the authorities, the strikers and citizens generally on the subject of order.

These are the conditions that citizens of St. Louis insist shall be maintained. They want safety, peace, order and the prompt revival of street car traffic. They want the resumption of business activities. They demand that the rights and interests of all be protected. This is absolutely necessary.

In the matter of arbitration, which offers a solution of all difficulties, progress was made. The managers of the Transit Company and the leaders of the striking employes were brought together. They met face to face and discussed their differences. The exact differences were determined

The offers to arbitrate have not come from the proper source. Neither Mayor Ziegenhein nor Gov. Stephens are the right persons to carry arbitration negotiations to a successful issue. Both have political objects to serve. Neither can command confidence as men who will act with an eye single to equity and the public welfare.

As chief executive of the state, Gov. Stephens' paramount duty is to see that public order is preserved and the laws are enforced. The entire responsibility for order rests with him and his Board of Police Commissioners.

The citizens of St. Louis can secure a prompt adjustment of all difficulties if they will act vigorously to that end. They have the greatest interests at stake. They are the chief sufferers. They are in a position to bring such powerful influence and such unanswerable arguments to bear upon both parties to the controversy that their appeal cannot be resisted.

The first essential is to secure the consent of both parties to the adjustment of their differences by a carefully selected body of men of conspicuous standing, ability and fairness, in whose decision absolute confidence could be reposed. When this shall be secured the victory will be won and street car travel may be revived.

Let the cars move and business be resumed. Settle the strike.

The World's Fair is making progress through the committee. What is wanted is a speedy vote in the House and its passage through the Senate. It must not go over to the December session.

BEAUTY RACES.

A prominent New York physician says that the exercise of running is one of the greatest aids to beauty. It was running races that gave the Greek women their beautiful figures. There should be beauty races at all female seminaries, girls' clubs and other places where young women meet together.

This is good advice if it does not lead to excess. The tendency in all these things is to create a fad, and either to do too much or leave the exercise alone.

Races in which young women should strain every muscle, nerve and blood vessel, sinking down exhausted and unfit for the continuance of daily duties, would not conduce to beauty or happiness. But running in moderation should be an aid to either sex. The Indian man or woman, before the white man's civilization introduced new conditions, could trot for many hours without getting exhausted. How many white girls or women of to-day can run long enough to get the "second wind," which, as everyone who has tried it knows, gives one a most delightful sensation of physical power?

Perhaps if girls were taught running they would never be willing to adopt tight lacing and other fashionable tortures when they grew up. They would be beautiful enough without the aid of the corset maker.

Webster Davis denies that he said there are men about the President who ought to be got rid of as quickly as possible. It is only what he ought to have said.

WHAT ARE THE FACTS?

Prof. Washburn Hopkins of Yale College, who speaks from personal observation, says that "to send anything but money to India to aid the famine sufferers is downright foolishness."

If this is true, the trouble is not an actual scarcity of foodstuffs, but a deep-seated dislocation of industry.

The situation is not essentially different from that in Ireland during the so-called famine of 1845-6. At that time Americans sent grain to relieve the sufferings of the people. But it was discovered that during the entire famine period Ireland was exporting grain.

What are the facts with regard to India? It certainly is foolishness in such circumstances to send food. Better send money wherewith to buy grain of the local merchants who are holding it.

No assembling in crowds is the prime condition of public order. Citizens should avoid crowds. The authorities should see that crowds do not gather on the streets. Parents should keep their children off the streets. This is the way to assure order and the condition necessary to a prompt return to normal activities.

THE MAN IS FOUND.

It is given out with some show of authority that the name of McKinley's running mate is known. He is John D. Long, Secretary of the Navy. Mark Hanna says it looks like Long, and the Chicago McKinley organ says it is Long.

Mr. Long has had considerable experience in public life. He served four years in the Massachusetts Legislature, three years Governor of that State, six years in the House of Representatives and is now in his fourth year as Secretary of the Navy. Personally he is amiable, even-tempered and unpretending. But he will not contribute much backbone to the ticket.

Mr. Long's special weakness is the part he played in the Sampson-Schley row, in which he appeared as a partisan of Sampson. If he is nominated the story of that feud will be rehearsed and, it may be, the candidate put in an unenviable light.

Nominations seem to be passing from conventions to committees or bosses. It is safe to say that John D. Long could never command a vice-presidential nomination on his own strength or influence. But Hanna names him and the convention usually registers the will of the boss.

The Post-Dispatch arranged to receive and display bulletins of the Jeffries-Corbett fight to-night. But in consideration of the situation, of our own counsels to the public, and in deference to the proclamations of the authorities to avoid assembling in crowds, the Post-Dispatch has determined not to display the fight bulletins. No bulletins, therefore, will be displayed at the Post-Dispatch office to-night. But a special report of the event written by "Kid" McCoy, whose knowledge of scientific boxing makes him particularly competent to analyze the fighting qualities of both men, will appear in all editions of Saturday's Post-Dispatch.

ENGLAND FEARS WAR.

Lord Salisbury's speech before the Primrose League was probably the bitterest and most pessimistic he ever made.

The Premier has undone the elaborate work of the Queen to conciliate the Irish and made it practically impossible to bring about a friendly understanding with the home rulers.

A foreign war seems to be in the Prime Minister's mind and he indulges in no rosy rhetoric concerning an Anglo-American alliance. This is significant, since it is not likely that if there were one friend in sight he would neglect to dwell upon the fact as the one hopeful element in an otherwise hopeless prospect.

Lord Salisbury looks for war through popular feeling. He seems to think that hostilities will be provoked by race or national jealousies. This is probably the only way in which war will ever occur in future. Governments are so handicapped by financial necessities that they cannot initiate war. They must be forced to it by public demand.

This is what the old statesman fears. His forebodings are not pleasant, but would he, occupying one of the foremost positions in Christendom, talk at random on a subject of so grave importance?

Dr. Julia Holmes Smith, who is an intelligent and thoughtful woman, declares that 999 out of 1000 mothers are not fit to bring up their children from the day the little ones are born. There are also many fathers who are very unfit for parentage. What shall be done with these mothers and fathers? What will keep loving pairs out of matrimony until they are fit for it? We are going into the new century with this knotty problem.

The Committee on Legislation and Municipal Affairs of the Business Men's League reported Thursday that in their opinion street improvement is not possible "unless the importance of good streets from a purely commercial standpoint can be more thoroughly impressed upon the minds of property holders." It ought not to be be difficult to impress them. The commercial value of good streets is a self evident proposition.

The Illinois State Republican Convention refused to express any sympathy for the struggling Boer republics. The American spirit is dead wherever the Republican party machine can kill it. The fathers of this great republic would be ashamed of the Illinois Republican Convention.

Large sawmill plants have been established in Canada by American lumbermen, and $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 is to be expended in the manufacture of Canadian pulp in the next two years. Why don't we expand in the direction of Canada? There are "millions in it."

There is always much boasting and exaggeration in the reports of strike-time walking. A walker's statements should be weighed with the same care that is taken with a fisherman's.

"Gov. Roosevelt of New York has not been faithful to civil service principles in his appintments," says the Springfield (Mass.) Republican. Have the linotypes acquired the New England dialect?

The spirit of Daniel Webster has informed the Spiritualists at Lilydale that Mr. McKinley will have 273 votes in the electoral college and Mr. Bryan 174. Unfortunately for spirit predictions, the spirit prophecies are given in every presidential year in favor of both the leading candidates. There appear to be both Republican and Democratic spirits, as well as false spirits who return and pretend to be the phantoms of great men. Daniel Webster would scarcely be a McKinley ghost or give Mr. McKinley aid and comfort.

Themes for the Pulpit.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Is it not humiliating to the last degree to know that Bishop Tuttle should feel it to be his duty, when dedicating a new house of worship, to charge the pastor to utter no political addresses from that pulpit?

Now, just think of politics and slang in the pulpit! Is it any cause for amazement after these things have occurred and have been either silently or approvingly listened to that many refined and noble people have abandoned our churches? I think not.

Sane people cannot and will not endure such things. The pulpit is no place for anything except the purest and highest and greatest utterances. Whenever any pastor descends to anything like politics or pleasant moral lectures, or anything of this character, in the pulpit, then he has utterly prostituted his high and holy calling if he claims to be a preacher of the "everlasting gospel." People who tolerate such things should be dealt with gently and tenderly, because they are not sane.

Trifling with foreign themes in the pulpit by pastor and people is like exhausting ourselves over the shadow of a penny and allowing the shining millions of solid, yellow gold, to lie unnoticed.

An Arbitration Suggestion.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

What is required to end the conflict between labor and capital is a state official elected for the sole purpose of hearing all grievances from both sides and to decide the question on the broad grounds of rights and responsibilities.

Such an officer must be elected by the public with full authority to decide who is right, and having made this clear all law-abiding citizens will conform to the decision.

Let the public create a general manager of industry to keep track of and avoid the conflicts, the tie-ups and the disorganization of public affairs.

This officer should not represent a one-man or a one-interest power, but be the choice of all the elements interested, and thus clothed with legal authority to enforce socially and individually a new order of affairs.

THE FRIENDSHIP FOB.

The very latest novelty is the Parisian friendship fob. It is made of silk ribbons, to which are attached twelve hearts. These may be of silver, or, if your purse permits—or rather the pocketbook of your friend—of gold. With some girls the making of the fob is a gradual process, each friend being persuaded to bestow a heart, very much in the same way that the old bangle bracelet was made. No two on one fob should be alike. Hearts come engraved with a single word, usually of endearment, or a motto, and very popular ones are those having the name of a city etched on one side. The pin attachment is a feature of the fob. The ribbons may be gathered together on a plain ring after the manner of a man's fob, or a horseshoe, a fancy bar or a velvet bow sometimes forms the finishing touch.

CARPENTRY IN THE PHILIPPINES

A Missouri soldier writes from the Philippines: "The Chinamen do all the mechanical work here and they are slower than 'lasses in January. Their tools consist of one buck saw, one peculiar shaped hatchet of the George Washington style, one jackplane and a chisel. They work in gangs of eight or ten. Two will work while the rest sit down and scratch their legs and talk. They never use nails, everything is mortised and 'pigged,' and when they get through with a house it's there to stay."

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR.

THE PUNCH DEWEY DRANK.

To make the drink that knocked Dewey out on the occasion of the banquet tendered him March 21 at the De Soto by the citizens of Savannah, Ga., says the Caterer Monthly, mix the following ingredients:

The juice of 12 lemons, 1 pound of sugar, 1 siphon of seltzer, 1 bottle of Jamaica rum, ½ bottle port wine, 1 bottle of brandy, 2 quarts of champagne, 1 can of pineapple, and fruit in season.

The proportions given are for 12 people.

Dewey is only one of many prominent men who have been knocked out by this palatable drink, which originated with Savannah's crack military company, the Chatham Artillery. Among the others was President Arthur when he visited Savannah during the Chatham Artillery Centennial in 1884.

YOUNG ORATOR WITH STRIKERS.

Clarence Richeson, Preacher, Student and Conductor.

MOVES MEN WITH WORDS.

FORMERLY WORKED ON DELMAR AVENUE DIVISION.

Winning His Way to a Higher Education, and Counsels the Strikers That Right, Not Might, Will Succeed.

Clarence Richeson, aged 23, of 4166 Delmar avenue, is the orator of the street car strike. Richeson was a conductor on the Delmar avenue line, night run. He is a Baptist preacher, a missionary, a Sunday-school worker. He is a High School graduate and a prospective college student. He worked his way through the High School and was saving money from his pay as a conductor to put him through college.

Richeson is the Robespierre, the Danton of the present struggle, in the sense that his is the eloquent voice, his the masterful mind, his the compelling magnetism which draws all his associates toward him and makes them defer to his opinions.

But he is distinctly not the Danton or the Robespierre of this labor revolution in the sense of being a demagogue, an agitator, an inciter to violence. Richeson counsels calmness. He advises the men to stand firm, but not to violate any law. He advises them to yield no jot nor title of what they deem their rights, but to avoid violence, to do no wrong."

"I make mistakes," says Richeson, "but I never do wrong intentionally. My life purpose is to avoid doing wrong. I am going to try to teach other men to do the right and avoid the wrong."

Young Richeson is an interesting character. He was born in Lynchburg, Va., a fact which no one will question after hearing one of his speeches, for his accent is distinctly of the plantation.

While still a boy Richeson came to Missouri. He worked on a farm near Carrollton, and by the sweat of his brow, plowing corn, he paid his way through the High School in that town, being graduated with honors in 1896. For a time he worked in a foundry. Then he came to St. Louis, and since November of 1898 he has been in the employ of the St. Louis Transit Company, until the great strike, when he went out with his fellow-members of the union.

Doubtless few of those who have ridden on the Delmar avenue cars conducted by the courteous Richeson have been aware that the conductor intends to take a theological course and be ordained to the full work of the Baptist ministry. Such is Richeson's dearest ambition.

Perhaps also few of his passengers are aware of the fact that the man who takes their fares and gives them transfers is frequently called upon to occupy a pulpit in a St. Louis church, and that already he is a preacher of recognized ability.

Richeson has served as supply in the pulpit of the Carondelet Baptist Church. Once he preached there nearly two months in the absence of the pastor. Sometimes he preaches at the Russell Avenue Mission and occasionally at the West Park Mission.

Richeson is a member of the Grand Avenue Baptist Church and until recently taught a class in the Sunday school. But street car conductor works "every day and Sunday, too," as Richeson phrases it, and consequently he has found it necessary to give up his class.

Richeson is modest and does not say much about his aims and achievements, but his friends say that he has been saving up money and intends to enter Missouri Jewell College at Liberty, Mo., in September.

The young man is a nephew of Thomas Richeson of 3122 Pine street, now vice-president of the Evens & Howard Fire Brick Co., and for 40 years president of the Belleville White Lead Co.

But first of all Clarence Richeson is a man who believes in the rights of the common people, as he says, and his sympathies, his aims and his personality make him a picturesque figure in the great strike.

Richeson is tall, well-built, dark-haired, black-eyed, with the mouth of a man of determination and the language and voice of an accomplished orator. As a member of the grievance committee of the street car men's union he has had much experience in conferring with General Manager Baumhoff and in advocating, from the platform of the union hall, the principles of what he considers fair play.

Tuesday morning Richeson, after 48 hours without sleep, was at the carshouse of the Lindell division, Fairfax and Taylor avenues, by daybreak, advising and directing the strikers.

During the morning he made eight speeches from a box in the open air almost in front of the room where, with drawn blinds, sat Division Superintendent John Myers.

Richeson counseled calmness, but insisted upon firmness. He said:

"This is the grandest year, the grandest month and the grandest day of our lives. We have determined to insist upon our rights. We are going to maintain our rights. We do not seek more money, but merely reasonable conditions.

"We demand to be treated as men, not as slaves. We belong to no man, to no corporation. Our bodies and our souls are ours. We have promised good work for the company, in exchange for fair treatment. We have given the good work, but the fair treatment has been denied us. All we ask is common justice.

"Let us be firm. Let no cars run out of this carhouse, but detain them not by brute force, but by the overwhelming argument of numbers. Don't go away. Stay here and let your presence lend its influence. We will win if we stand firm."

During the morning several women members of the Grand Avenue Baptist Church went to the scene and admonished the young man to be careful.

"Clarence, don't do anything that will get you into trouble," they said. "We know you will not do anything wrong, but we are afraid you will be hurt."

Richeson assured the ladies that he was able to take care of himself, and the manner in which the other striking motormen and conductors cheered him at every sentence of his impassioned addresses and gathered around him for advice and counsel when he had finished was sufficient evidence that in the event of trouble they would help to take care of him. Few of his fellow-workers know that he is a preacher, but all look to him as a leader.

Richeson is very conscientious. Incidentally, he remarked to the Post-Dispatch that the only time he ever attended a theater was to see "The Sign of the Cross" and that he arrived late, because his foreman would not let him off. As he entered the theater one of the actors was saying: "The great responsibility is thine," and the sentence so impressed the young man that he determined never again to attend a theater, as he has dedicated himself to the preaching of the holy gospel and believes that it is wrong to go to such places.

CLARENCE RICHESON, THE STRIKERS' ORATOR.

STORIES FROM WASHINGTON TOLD IN AND OUT OF CONGRESS.

Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Representative Marsh of Illinois was called from the floor of the House the other day. As he stepped into the corridor he was approached by an elderly gentleman, his clothes the worse for wear, and having the appearance of a "constituent" in hard luck. But the congressman cordially shook the hand extended to him. A few minutes' conversation took place, when the congressman turned to a friend and exclaimed:

"Here is a man who served under me in the war. I haven't seen him since the war closed."

"Pardon me, but you have," exclaimed the visitor.

"When?" questioned Mr. Marsh.

"About four years ago. I came up here and borrowed $5 from you. I have come back to pay that, with interest."

As he spoke the visitor pulled out a much worn bag, selected a $10 gold piece and offered it to the congressman. The latter looked surprised, but made no attempt to take the money. Then he stared at his visitor in astonishment, as the man persisted in paying the debt. It was a novelty to find a man so anxious to return borrowed money to a congressman. Finally the Illinois representative recovered his speech, and said:

"No, my man. Keep the money. I don't need it."

The old gentleman looked hurt, but as the congressman retreated after shaking hands he walked away.

Wore a Silk Hat With a Sack Coat.

It isn't every day that a new member of Congress will step all over the proprieties by sallying forth from his hotel attired in a tall hat of latest pattern and a last year's hand-me-down sack coat; but that is what Mr. Littlefield of Maine has done upon several occasions lately, and he seems to enjoy it.

A few mornings ago he got aboard a street car at the Peace monument to ride around to the top of Capitol Hill on the House side. His appearance was stunning, and in the warm April sun it shone like a freshly blackened base burner.

But his coat was a sight. The lining hung down full length, just as it did when the coat was new, but the cloth on the outside had crawled upward an average of half an inch all around, and presented sad evidence of wear and tear. One pocket was filled to overflowing with heavy papers, packed in on top of a handkerchief, and it hung down on one side like the end of a piece of unsmoked sausage.

But the Maine giant didn't seem to know or care anything about the sensation he was creating. He got off the car at the top of the hill, and walked across the wide expanse of paved street to the House entrance with the carriage of a lord, and he looked the part, too, but for that coat.

As he was about to enter the Capitol, he was met by Senator Hale of Maine who was also attired in shining tile and sack coat, which leads one to wonder whether this is the prevailing mode up in Maine.

Has No Sentiment About Autographs.

Gen. Wheeler is not a prophet without honor at the capital, but a hero with a large following, who have for him a sincere if sentimental admiration. At the Cosmos Club the other day the treasurer of a certain patriotic organization, who had just received a check for dues from "Little Joe," was debating with the secretary of the society the advisability of keeping the check for the value of the autograph and depositing cash to the proper amount instead.

"I prize that autograph very much," he said. "It is worth many times $2 to me, and I think I shall keep it."

Gen. Grosvenor, who happened to be in the room, and who could never be accused of sentimentality, overhearing the conversation, called out to the treasurer:

"Oh, deposit the check, deposit it. I will give you 50 of Wheeler's autographs just as good as that!"

Ex-Senator Evarts as an Expert Diner-Out.

To a lady who expressed surprise that one of such slender frame and fragile physique could endure so many feasts with their varying viands and different wines William M. Evarts replied that it was not so much the different wines that gave him trouble as the indifferent ones.

President Hayes was a total abstainer. His state dinners, otherwise very elegant and costly, were served without wines. The only concession to conviviality was the Roman punch, flavored with Jamaica rum. Evarts was accustomed to allude to this course as "the life-saving station!"

Rising to address informally the guests at a Thanksgiving dinner he began: "You have been giving your attention to a turkey stuffed with sage. You are now about to consider a sage stuffed with turkey."

The carriage and wagon workers' union has been thoroughly organized and now meet at Negele's Hall, 837 Chouteau avenue.

The journeymen paper hangers are trying to reorganize their union, which dissolved some months ago as the result of differences about day and piece work.

AMERICAN FLAG RAISED

Ceremony of Annexing the Island of Tutuila to the United States.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Assistant Secretary Hackett has received a report dated the 17th of April from Commander B. F. Tilley, commandant United States naval station at Tutuila, Samoa, stating that he had that day conducted the ceremony of hoisting the American flag as symbolical of the protectorate of the United States over that island and the adjacent islands, together with the island of Manua.

The Abarenda had previously visited Manua, an island about ten hours steaming to the eastward, where a conference was held and the king and his counsellors informed of the meaning of the arrangement by which the island had been brought under the protection of this government. The king, upon this explanation expressed satisfaction in coming under the protection of the flag of the United States.

On the day appointed, Commander Tilley read the orders from the government of the United States, and an address by the people was presented. YATES ADMIRED AT HOME.

Business Suspended in Order to Greet Republican Candidate.

JACKSONVILLE, Ill., May 11.—When Richard Yates, Republican candidate for governor of Illinois, arrived here from Peoria yesterday, he was met at the depot by 2000 citizens. He and his wife were escorted to a carriage, which was soon almost filled with roses, and then the parade moved toward the Yates residence. Thousands were in the line of march and business was practically suspended during its progress.

SPORTS OF THE DAY

CORBETT IS CLEVER,

JEFFRIES ADMITS THAT, BUT HE PROMISES TO BEAT HIM.

THEY MEET ON FRIDAY NIGHT.

Cards From the Principals and From Charley White, Who Will Be the Referee.

A Card From Jeffries.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I can see only one thing, and that is victory, in to-night's fight. Corbett is, of course, the cleverest man I ever met, and I don't suppose I shall ever meet a cleverer one. But you can bet that if I hit him I'll hurt him. He's clever, but he can't keep away from all I send at him.

Now that the long period of training is over and the battle is sure to be fought to-night, I think it is only right to let the people know that I am in splendid condition. When I trained for Fitzsimmons and Sharkey I didn't take enough time to do myself justice. I was not half as good as I am now.

Corbett thinks I am slow. I know I may not be as fast as he is, but I also know that I have always been quick enough to protect myself and to land on any man I ever fought.

I'm ready for Corbett and for anyone else who wants to try for the championship.

JAMES J. JEFFRIES,
Champion of the World.

Corbett Also Heard From.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

If I don't beat Jeffries to-night I will be the most surprised man in the world. We won't be in the ring very long before he will think he is back in Carson getting some of the same old medicine.

I say this without boasting, and with a full knowledge of Jeffries' good condition. There is not a particle of malice between us, and if he is able to win I'll be the first to take off my hat to him.

But I don't see where he can come in.

Suppose a ship with a 10-inch gun and one with a 6-inch gun are engaged, and the 6-inch gun is fired three times as often and with much greater accuracy than the big one—ought not the 6-inch gun to win? No matter how powerful the big gun is it won't do any harm unless it hits what it aims at.

Jeffries can't get at me, and I am strong enough and clever enough to keep landing on him. There is the whole battle.

JAMES J. CORBETT.

The Referee Has His Say.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Jeffries and Corbett will fight strictly according to the Marquis of Queensberry rules and one added clause, which is to the effect that if the men or either of them refuse to break when I tell them to break I am to step between them. The rules are as simple as they can be and plain enough for anybody to understand. There should be no clinching and there will be no holding. In the natural course of the fight the men will come together and their arms will become entwined. Each is to step back immediately of his own accord. If either does not step back I will tell him to do so, and, if he does not do so then I will separate them by force.

Holding at all is positively against the rules, and as to holding and hitting, that is a breach that will not be tolerated.

There will be no rules broken in the fight. Both men understand thoroughly not only the rules, but the added clause about my duty if they refuse to break, and all conditions and agreements.

I have no opinion to express about the merits of the two men. I will be there to-night to decide on that and will do it without bias or prejudice as I see it. From all appearance it should make a grand fight.

CHARLEY WHITE.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 11.—James J. Jeffries and James J. Corbett will fight 25 rounds to-night at the Seaside Athletic Club, Coney Island, for the heavyweight championship of the world.

The contest will be under Queensberry rules—three-minute rounds with one-minute intervals.

Charley White will be the referee.

The purse the men will battle for is 80 per cent of the gross receipts, or about $45,000, if, as estimated, the receipts amount to $75,000.

The winner's share, 75 per cent of $45,000, will be about $33,750; the loser's share, 25 per cent, about $11,250.

Jeffries will be seconded in the ring by "Tommy" Ryan, Jack Jeffries, William Brady and Ed Dunkhorst.

Corbett's seconds will be Gus Ruhlin, George Considine and Leo Pardello.

Jeffries has trained for three months for the contest. Corbett has been in training for six months.

The cheapest seats will cost $3 apiece. These will be furthest away from the ring and nearest to the roof. From the $5 section prices will increase as one sits nearer the ring until the boxes are reached, close to the ropes. Each box seat will cost $25. Even if the house is not filled to the utmost the club officials will take in at least $75,000.

These are the measurements of the fighters as they appear to-day:

	Jeffries.	Corbett.
Age	24 years	33 years
Girth of neck	17½ inches	17 inches
Girth of chest, normal	44 inches	42 inches
Girth of chest, expanded	49 inches	44½ in.

Girth of forearm	13 inches	12½ in.
Girth of thighs	24½ inches	22 inches
Calf	17½ inches	14½ in.
Wrist	8 inches	7½ in.

KID M'COY WILL REPORT JEFFRIES-CORBETT FIGHT FOR THE POST-DISPATCH.

Kid McCoy will report the Jeffries-Corbett fight for the Post-Dispatch. His report will appear in all of the editions of the Post-Dispatch on Saturday. McCoy is a past master in the art of pugilism. By his skill and cunning he, a man of 158 pounds, has been able to cope with the best heavyweights in America and, with a single exception, hold his own against them. Being an expert in the art of boxing, knowing the fighting game perhaps better than any man living, and being familiar with every one of its angles, he should be able to give a most interesting, intelligent and accurate description of what promises to be a great fight. McCoy will represent the Post-Dispatch at the ringside on Friday night, gather all his details there and the article made up from them will appear in every one of the editions of the Post-Dispatch on Saturday.

NOW FOR BROOKLYN,

THE CHAMPIONS TO PLAY ST. LOUIS SATURDAY AND SUNDAY.

The Champion Brooklyns and the Red Caps will reopen the gates at League Park Saturday afternoon, when the two teams meet for the first time this season.

The games with the Superbas and especially the opening game, should prove the best contests seen in St. Louis in many a day.

McGraw and Robinson will make their first appearance in St. Louis uniforms, and as they will have their old rivals for opponents will try their utmost to defeat them. Manager Tebeau granted Robinson the permission to catch the Brooklyn games, as Robby wanted to help McGraw down Hanlon's tribe. "Cy" Young will in all probability occupy the rubber in Saturday's game.

Heidrick will probably play in Saturday's game. The fleet centerfielder said Thursday that his leg was in good shape and that he would practice with the team Friday afternoon and if he felt no evil effects from the work-out would resume his position in the first game with Brooklyn.

Buck Ewing wants Cross the worst way. Speaking of him while in Boston the other day he said:

"Give me a good third baseman, and I will guarantee to hold New York in the race to a finish. Now that McGraw has signed with St. Louis, Cross would just fill the bill for the Giants. They can have no use for him now in St. Louis, and it would be a big thing for the whole league if he were sent to New York.

"With Lave Cross at third I guess we wouldn't have an infield, eh?" said Buck with a smile. "Then with this man Frisble back in the game and our pitchers in shape how could they stop us?"

The Reds' recent trip was a disastrous one from a financial standpoint. The cold snap in Chicago, rain in St. Louis Sunday and street car strike deprived them of reaping the benefit of McGraw's first appearance on the St. Louis team Wednesday and Thursday. All combined caused them a loss of at least $5000. A loss like this can never be regained, as similar opportunities do not present themselves again this season.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Friday and Saturday the sectional fight between the East and West starts in earnest. New York opens at Chicago, Boston at Pittsburg, Brooklyn at St. Louis and Philadelphia at Cincinnati. The eastern clubs are playing the western teams from now until the 18th, which will give the public a line on the merits of the western and eastern teams in the National League.

The St. Louis line-up in Saturday's game will be: McGraw, third base; Donovan, right field; Heidrick or Donlin, center field; Burkett, left field; Wallace, shortstop; McGann, first base; Keister or Quinn, second base; Robinson, catcher; Young, pitcher.

The Baltimore American says: "Robison offered to pay Mac $6000 and Robbie $4500, which, with $7500—half of the purchase money—to be divided between them, would make the tidy sum of $18,000 for six months' play, and the temptation was simply too great for the players."

THE E. L. & M.'s NEW GROUNDS.

They will Play at Athletic Park on All Sunday Mornings.

From this forward the E. L. and Ms. will play games regularly at Athletic Park on Sunday mornings, having engaged that playground for all Sunday mornings during the season, and playing games with all teams in their class.

On next Sunday morning the E. L. and Ms. will cross bats with the Jokers at Athletic Park. The game will begin promptly at 10 o'clock. The teams expect a large crowd, as both teams are well matched. The E. L. and Ms.'s line-Ebert 1b, J. Juengst 2b, C. Mooney c, A. Ebert lb, J. Jensengst 2b, C. Mooney 3b, L. Capestri ss, H. Welge rf, A. Farrell lf, S. Shaffner cf. On the Jokersts' team there are: Flood p, Meyers c, Duggan 1b, Krauss 2b, J. Walsh 3b, Heckmey ss, Ichtertz lf, Smith cf, and B. Walsh rf.

CURES SYPHILIS.

A Trial Treatment Sent Free to All Who Suffer From Any Stage of the Disease.

Cures Cases That Hot Springs and All Other Treatments Failed to Even Help.

There has been discovered by the State Medical Institute, 199 Elektron Bldg., Fort Wayne, Ind., the most remarkable Syphilis cure ever heard of. It has cured all such indications as mucous patches in the mouth, sore throat, copper colored spots, chancres, ulcerations on the body and in hundreds of cases where the hair and eyebrows had fallen out and the whole skin was a mass of boils, pimples and ulcers this wonderful specific has completely changed the whole body into a clean, perfect condition of physical health. Every railroad running into Fort Wayne brings scores of sufferers seeking this new and marvelous cure, and to enable those who cannot travel to realise what a truly marvelous work the institute is accomplishing, they will send free to every sufferer a free trial treatment, so that every one can cure themselves in the privacy of their own home. This is the only known cure for syphilis. Do not hesitate to write at once and the free trial will be sent sealed in plain package.

NO RACES SATURDAY,

FAIR ASSOCIATION DECIDES ON A POSTPONEMENT.

IT WILL BE UNTIL THURSDAY.

Then the Meeting Will Be Opened Regardless of All Street Railway Conditions.

The St. Louis meeting instead of opening this year on Saturday, May 12, and ending on Saturday, Aug. 25, will open on Thursday, May 17, and end on Thursday, Aug. 30.

The pushing on of the dates is due to the street car strike.

Wanting all the people of St. Louis to see the Inaugural run and not wishing to discriminate between those who ride in carriages and those who walk, President Robert Aull and the Fair Association officials have very wisely concluded to move the meeting up a few days and instead of opening on Saturday will commence operations on Thursday next, by which time it is hoped all the street railway troubles will be settled.

But whether they are or not the meeting will positively be inaugurated on Thursday next.

The postponement for some reasons will not be a bad thing.

It will give the track a chance to dry out well and it will give candidates from Louisville and other points all the more time to get their charges in condition.

It will also give the California horses nearly a week more time in which to get acclimated.

So, after all, the postponement of the meeting to Thursday does not do so much damage after all, as would appear at first glance.

Games on C. B. C. Campus.

The Gill Bros. will meet C. B. C. Sunday, May 13, on the college campus. A great game is expected, as the Gills are about the best semi-professional team in the state. Walsh and Nelson will be in the points for the Gills and Betts and Hecker for C. B. C. The Gills would like to meet all strong out of town clubs. For games address Gill Bros., Marcus and Easton avenues.

STOCK YARD NOTES.

George Watson ships his last consignment of horses to the old country this evening and leaves himself to spend a vacation of a month or more in England. The horses are a very select assortment of high-acting single coachers and cobs and pairs of the same, high-class, speedy trotting road horses and hunters. He says that he will not stay over a month longer than necessity requires; that he will return with increased commissions. While he is away he says that Mr. Bratton will fill his orders.

Little horses of the southern type did not improve in any considerable degree during the week and were undoubtedly the least profitable sellers proportionately. Since the demand for this class from British government sources ceased about 10 days ago the decline of from $7.50 to $12.50 has for the most part remained in force for the reason that it was the chief dependency of this class at this time of the year, all, or practically all, southern demand having passed. What would come within this class were small drivers 14½ to 15½ hands, not finished enough or with not enough action to be regarded as good drivers. They sold generally from $40 to $50, as against $50 to $65 the week before last.

The mule market was in more favorable condition this week than in over a month. It is always a sign of a good market when mules come in and are sold that same day. That is what happened with the bulk of the mules this week. They did not have to stay long on the market.

The chunk business on such as were wanted by the foreign and select Eastern buyers was a decided improvement as the week advanced, over what it was the week before. There were more buyers for the class and their orders were more urgent and consequently values had to be better. All the weakness of the week before disappeared and instead the good and satisfactory prices that existed during the month of April prevailed. Chunks that weighed 1150 to 1400 pounds, from fair to good quality, sold from $70 to $85, while the select to extra good ones sold from $90 to $120, the bulk of the best chunks bringing $100 to $110.

THE MARKETS.

MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, May 11.

The government report was generally considered bearish, as a consequence, influenced by this and lower cables, the grain markets opened weaker to-day and later sagged some more on the failure of anything like a good demand being developed.

In the early hours of to-day's session the bears ruled prices, but in spite of the favorable character of the news they were not able to effect the changes they desired.

The situation that now confronts the market is the most bearish that it has seen for some time, as a consequence there seems to be little immediate prospect of a bull rally of even small magnitude. It is almost impossible for this side of the market to find enough favorable items on which to even hold their own, let alone advancing prices. Conditions in all sections are bearish, and if there is not a noticeable sag in prices it will be a surprise.

Optimistic bulls there are who could pick items from yesterday's government report which in a way favored them, but even these would have to confess that the present situation really warrants a lower range, for the time being, at any rate. But the report as a whole even by this class of traders must be considered as more bearish than bullish. According to the report the wheat yield will probably be about 370,000,000 bu, which is quite a little below that of the April report.

The report was not the only interesting bit of news to-day. The Argentine shipments were of importance, being 2,600,000 bu, the same as last week. It is a constant surprise to some traders how these shipments continue so large, with scarcely any decrease from week to week. The shipments since Jan. 1 are 41,832,000 bu. Last year they were 26,368,000 bu. Danubian shipments this week were 328,000 bu, against 104,000 bu last week and 720,000 bu a year ago.

The Illinois May report makes the condition of wheat 90 in the north, 84 in the central and 83 in the southern section. Of the area seeded last fall 14 per cent was winter killed, leaving 1,700,000 acres, or 500,000 acres more than last year.

The market opened to-day with a generally lower range, some months showing an early disposition to go higher, but this was early nipped in the bud by the lack of demand and by the poor show of interest exhibited by the pit.

May opened at 70¼c and July at 67c; later this month sold at 66⅞c. September was bid 67⅜c.

Liverpool closed ⅜@½d down for the day.

Receipts of wheat at St. Louis to-day were 15,801 bu, compared with 17,580 bu same date last year. Of these 326 sks and 20 cars were local, compared with 969 sks and 21 cars same date last year.

Receipts of wheat at Minneapolis and Duluth to-day were 203 cars, compared with 283 cars same date last year.

Receipts of wheat at primary points to-day were 325,719 bu, compared with 357,000 bu same date last year.

Shipments, 302,023 bu, compared with 639,000 bu same date last year.

Corn did little in the early market and not much of note later. There was not a great show of interest and in all months the pit was inclined to slight this cereal.

Argentine corn shipments since Jan. 1 have been 4,700,000 bu. Last year for the same period they were 2,252,000 bu. Danubian shipments this week were 152,000 bu; last week, 48,000 bu, and 1,486,000 bu last year.

May sold at 37¾c and July at 37½c. After this little was done.

Corn at Liverpool closed unchanged to ½d up.

Receipts of corn at St. Louis to-day were 18,880 bu, compared with 39,640 bu same date last year. Of these 192 sacks and 19 cars were local, compared with 556 sacks and 22 cars same date last year.

Receipts of corn at primary points to-day were 243,084 bu, as compared with 251,000 bu same date last year.

Shipments, 453,958 bu, compared with 1,300,000 bu same date last year.

July oats opened at 22⅝c, while May was not even favored with a bid till late in the session.

This grain was very dull and of little interest to-day, scarcely making any changes as the session progressed.

Receipts of oats at St. Louis to-day were 21,600 bu, compared with 38,400 bu same date last year. Of these 18 cars were local, compared with 30 cars same date last year.

MODERN MILLER OUTLOOK.

The weather has been highly favorable for the winter wheat crop; rains have fallen where needed east of the Mississippi River, while it was clear and settled in the West, where there was too much rain for a time. The crop prospects are excellent, excepting in Tennessee, where some damage is reported by chinch bugs. In Indiana, Ohio and Michigan, where the plant survived the Hessian plant ravages it is now growing finely. It is also evident that some of the previous statements of damage have been exaggerated.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

CHICAGO, May 11.—Perfect weather conditions and a bearish interpretation of the government crop report weakened wheat at the opening to-day. The selling was only scattered, however, and outside buying, owing to indications of a liberal decrease in the visible supply, checked the decline. July opened ⅛@¼c lower at 66⅛@66⅜c, declined to 65⅝c and rose to 66⅜c. Chicago receipts were 22 cars, one of which graded contract. Minneapolis and Duluth received 203 carloads. Argentine shipments to Europe for the week amounted to 1,800,000 bu.

Light receipts and a decrease in Argentine shipments strengthened corn at the start, but active selling by shorts immediately after the opening forced the price off a fraction until the bull crowd began to assert itself and the market turned strong again. Receipts, 164 cars. Argentine shipments, 96,000 bu, compared with 120,000 bu last week. July opened unchanged at 38⅞@39c, declined to 38⅜c and advanced to 38⅞c.

Oats were dull and easy. Crop news was rather bearish. Receipts, 137 cars. July opened a shade lower at 22⅝@22¾c, and eased off to 22½@22⅝c.

Diminishing hog receipts and active buying of lard by packers strengthened provisions. July pork opened a shade higher at $11.65@11.67½ and advanced to $11.70. July lard opened 2½c higher at $6.90 and rose to $6.95. July ribs ruled 2½@5c higher at $6.62½@6.65.

To-day's clearing-house statement shows: Clearings, $5,587,263; balances, $526,903.

Wall Street.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Dealings were large, but changes in price generally small and mixed at the opening of the stock market. Missouri Pacific rose 1¾, and the trunk line stocks manifested some strength. The grangers were inclined to be heavy except the Great Western stocks, which rose sharply. National Steel gained 2 points, but Steel and Wire and Federal Steel showed declines. Sugar also fell away nearly a point.

An active selling movement in the metal group lowered Steel and Wire and National Steel 2½ each, and weakened the general market. Sharp declines occurred in Sugar, American Tobacco, Western Union, Baltimore & Ohio and Missouri Pacific. Buying to cover shorts and realizing unsettled Sugar, which fluctuated a point frequently. Towards 11 o'clock there was less effort, save upon the standard railroad stocks.

There was very effective selling of American Tobacco, which put it almost a point below yesterday's lowest. In the general list the tendency continued downwards, but offerings slackened towards noon. The bond market was dull and irregular.

NEW COMMITTEE ORDERED

Thirteenth District Muddle Will Be Settled by a Special Proceeding.

At a meeting held at the Laclede Hotel Thursday the Democratic state central committee took up the factional fight in the Thirteenth Congressional District and decided that the only way out of the difficulty as to where and when primaries and nominating conventions shall be held is to leave the matter to be decided by a newly organized congressional committee. The order issued was as follows:

The chairman of the Thirteenth District congressional committee, H. C. Bell, is hereby directed to call at once, through the chairmen of the respective county committees, in the counties of Carter, Reynolds, Ste. Genevieve, Shannon and Webster, to be held on the 26th day of May, 1900, mass meetings, to recommend a member of the congressional committee from each of said counties, and the committeemen so recommended shall be duly elected members of said congressional committee, at a meeting of said committee, to be held at the Commercial Hotel, in the city of De Soto, Mo., on June 2, 1900.

It is further ordered that the respective county chairmen shall give at least 10 days' public notice in the Democratic newspapers of the time and place of such mass meetings.

At said meeting of the congressional committee at De Soto on June 2, the committee is hereby directed to set the time and determine the manner for nominating a candidate for Congress in said district.

Resolutions of respect for the memory of the late C. C. Maffitt were adopted.

HALL WILL BE COMPLETED

Sergeant-at-Arms Martin Returns From the Democratic Convention City.

John T. Martin returned Friday from Kansas City, where he attended the recent meeting of the national Democratic committee and spent several days in making up the list of his assistants as sergeants-at-arms of the national convention. He thinks the convention hall will be entirely reconstructed before the date of the meeting of the convention.

"The contractors are now ten days ahead of their schedule," he said, "and they assured me that they would continue constantly to gain on the time they allowed themselves. Every pound of iron and steel contracted for has been delivered, although the foundries have twenty days remaining to them under their contracts. The other materials are also ready. These facts assure the completion of the hall some time before it is needed."

FIREMAN KILLED; ANOTHER HURT.

Engine Crashed Into an Iron Pillar.

NO BLAME WAS ATTACHED.

ACCIDENT OCCURRED AT BROADWAY AND POPLAR STREETS.

Driver George Seibert Died Instantly and Jacob Klein Was Probably Fatally Injured Friday Morning.

George Seibert, member of Engine Company No. 15, was killed outright, and Jacob Klein, also of No. 15 Company, was perhaps fatally injured while en route to a fire at 1012 Chouteau avenue early Friday morning.

One of the horses attached to the engine fell while running away and the wheels passed over his front legs. To put the animal out of his misery he was killed.

The accident to the firemen occurred at Broadway and Poplar street, where the tracks of the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern Railroad intersect Broadway.

There are gates at the crossing, which are raised and lowered automatically. They are held in place by heavy iron beams, which extend about two feet from the sidewalk into the street. It was against one of these beams that the engine crashed.

There were no trains passing when the engine came along and the report that the bars were lowered and the collision thus resulted lacks verification.

The watchhouse is stationed on the east side of Broadway. The watchman was on duty when the engine sped by and his statement that the gates were resting in a perpendicular position is borne out by witnesses.

The engine house, with which Seibert was connected is situated at Broadway and Valentine street, less than a hundred yards from the scene of the tragedy.

Apparently the horses were moving at a high rate of speed and Seibert, who drove the engine, taking the right hand side of the street, failed to notice the heavy beams of the gates at the crossing.

The force of the impact threw both firemen from the engine.

Seibert was hurled a distance of probably 10 feet. Over his heart is a small gash, showing how his body struck the ground. No other wound is visible.

Klein fell head foremost from the engine and struck the granite blocks with terrific force. He was unconscious when picked up. He was removed to the engine house, where he now lies hovering between life and death.

The attending physician, Dr. Coryell, says he is suffering from concussion of the brain and severe internal injuries.

George Seibert was 28 years old and accounted one of the most courageous firemen in the department. Formerly he was assistant foreman of Truck No. 1, but at his own request was transferred 10 days ago to No. 15 engine company. He was married and lived with his family, consisting of a wife and two children at 2739 Arsenal street. It was stated at the engine house Friday that Mrs. Seibert and her little ones have been sick for several days. Seibert was installed as a fireman five years ago.

Klein is 30 years old, married and resides at Dolman and Carroll street. He has been identified with the fire department about three years and Chief Swingley says he was one of the bravest men in the service.

The alarm which called out engine company No. 15 struck at 3 o'clock Friday morning. Following the engine was truck No. 4, on which were M. A. Collona and other firemen.

"Seibert was going very rapidly," said Collona, to the Post-Dispatch, "and before we could apprise him of his danger he had struck the iron part of the gates. The gates were not down, as we got through without difficulty."

Assistant Foreman Paul Wills said: "I can only attribute the accident to George's unfortunate mistake. Instead of taking the middle of the street I judge he got too near the gutter. The engine broke the beam and the horses plunged on leaving Klein and Seibert in the street.

"Two blocks further south one of the horses fell and his leg was broken.

"Seibert had been with our company about eight days. He was probably not familiar with the railroad crossing at Poplar street, and, making a swift turn from the engine house, was unable to get to the middle of the street before his engine reached the gates.

"No blame is attached to the railroad watchman, as the gates, so far as I can understand, were not down. We have lost one of the bravest and truest men in the St. Louis Fire Department."

"WELL, ANY WAY—WALKIN'S GOOD!"

HER DEVOTION WON

WEARY VIGIL OF A MOTHER OVER HER INJURED BOY.

WATCHED HIM FOR TWO WEEKS.

Not Once Did She Desert Him, and His Life Will Be Her Reward.

With the life of her son as the prize for victory, Mrs. Augusta Alvers, 8312 North Fourteenth street, battled with death at the City Hospital for two weeks.

The mother's untiring devotion won. Her boy will live, the doctors says, and for the first time in many days the mother may draw a free breath.

Alvin Alvers, 6 years old, was playing on the street April 27. He tried to crawl on a moving coal wagon; the chubby hand slipped and the wheels passed over his thighs. His head struck the pavement and the skull was fractured.

Mrs. Alvers, leaving her six children in charge of a 10-year-old daughter, went with her boy to the City Hospital, to watch till the end.

But skillful surgery interposed. Unconscious, with only a faint heartbeat and a low moan to show that he still lived, Alvin was sent to a ward. The mother never left his side. She held his little hands when the mangled limbs were dressed. She spoke soothingly to deaf ears when Dr. Neitert washed the broken skull.

Mother and son went to division 15. All the the dangerous cases are there, and for 14 days the two fought for life. Mrs. Alvers did not lay down to rest in all that time. In a padded chair that a kindly nurse furnished, the tired woman waited. She did not worry about her household; the 10-year-old girl, she said, would care for that. The life of her boy was what she asked for and she watched patiently for her reward. The fear that all her toil would be of no avail was the burden she bore.

Patients often die in division 15 and the thin muslin screen cannot shut out the death-pounds. In the nights the woman would start from sleep at these noises and half awake would lean over the cot fearful that she would find her own child lifeless. But the morning sunshine would restore her courage—a shrouded form borne from the room would start her fears anew.

All this Mrs. Alvers has passed through, but the worst is over now. Little Alvin is recovering fast. He lies all day, his limbs stretched and held by weights, and Drs. Neitert and Babbler, who have watched the case, say he will be able to play again. Mrs. Alvers still sits by the bedside, showing picture books and in a thousand ways amusing her boy as he becomes convalescent.

BROKE UP A STILL.

Illicit Whisky Making Apparatus Seized Near Belleville.

A still for the manufacture of spirits from grain or fruit was discovered and seized on the Solomon Mueller farm near Belleville, Ill., Thursday.

For some time past large shipments of spirits have been made from this vicinity, but the place of manufacture could not be ascertained until a clew was obtained at the Air Line depot.

C. G. Rogers, deputy internal revenue collector, went to work on the case and traced the shipment to the Mueller farm. The apparatus was seized and shipped to the revenue office. No arrests have been made.

ROOSEVELT WANTS TO BE GOV.-GEN. OF PHILIPPINES.

WILL DINE WITH MR. M'KINLEY.

Secretary Long Now the Favorite for the Vice-Presidential Nomination Among Washington Leaders.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Gov. Roosevelt wants to be the first civil governor-general of the Philippines, according to intimate friends, more than he wants anything else just now. And he may receive that appointment if President McKinley is re-elected, after he has served another term as governor of New York.

He proposes to run for governor of New York next fall. If re-elected he will have two years to serve. Then he would like to serve two years as governor-general of the Philippines.

Gov. Roosevelt's friends say that he would even be willing to resign the governorship of New York to begin service in the Philippines.

They say he is not thinking about getting the presidential nomination in 1904, nor at any other time.

To-night Gov. Roosevelt will be entertained at dinner by President McKinley at the White House.

Secretary Long is now the favorite for the vice-presidential nomination.

Gov. Roosevelt and Senator Hanna again met in conference yesterday in the committee room of Senator Lodge and the governor repeated his refusal to become a candidate for the vice-presidency. The governor was compelled to decline an invitation to dine with Senator Hanna at his home because of his short stay in Washington and previous engagements.

WINS A MATRIMONIAL PRIZE

Young Man in Belleville, Besides a Wife, Secures $500 in Two Years by His Marriage.

Mathias Bauer of Belleville, who was married Thursday at St. Peter's Cathedral in that city, his bride being Miss Annie Hoeffken, was the first member of the League of Eligibles in Belleville to wed.

The League of Eligibles is a society for the promotion of matrimony by endowments. Members take out a policy for $500, payable at marriage after two years, or at the expiration of five years, married or unmarried. All the members are, of course, unmarried. Both sexes are admitted on equal terms to the organization, which holds meetings for the purpose of promoting matrimonial impulses.

Mr. Bauer was one of the first members to join in Belleville. He had an incentive. Miss Hoeffken had already promised to be his wife and he had enough confidence in her promise to be sure that she would help him to "beat the game" in the league.

He will not get his $500, however, until the expiration of two years, and for that period he must continue to "co-operate."

HERE FOR SAFE KEEPING.

Iron County Man-Killer Placed in St. Louis Jail.

Amlek Brooks, who killed David Gray at Ironton, Mo., last September, and who was convicted in the Iron County court and given a penitentiary sentence, was brought to St. Louis Friday morning and lodged in jail here for safekeeping.

Brooks had been at work in a quarry with Gray. The night of the tragedy, after drinking nearly all night, a fight arose and the young man drew his knife and attacked his friend, inflicting a wound that proved fatal within a few hours.

Brooks was indicted and charged with murder in the first degree, but at his trial he was found guilty only of manslaughter and escaped with a penitentiary sentence of three years. The verdict did not meet with great favor in the county, and Sheriff B. S. Gregory concluded to bring his prisoner to this city in order that no violence might be attempted.

SEEKING HIS OWN IDENTITY.

"William Austin" Not Sure About His Name.

THINKS HE IS HEIR TO RICHES.

BELIEVES WOMAN HE CALLED MOTHER AN IMPOSTER.

Play Which She Wrote Before Death Will, He Hopes, Furnish the Key to the Secret of His Birth and Life.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 11.—"William Austin" is 36 years old, but he does not know his real name. There are a lot of other things about himself he is anxious to learn, notably whether or not he is, was, or ought to have been, rich.

The woman he was taught from infancy to believe was his mother died May 21, 1899. She had been married to Joseph J. Fernando. Austin's account of how he ascertained that this woman was not his mother and of his efforts to learn the identity of his parents constitutes a romance.

"It was at the time of the death of Mrs. Fernando that I learned that she was not my mother," said Austin. "In my early life she was wealthy. We lived in luxury.

"Less than an hour after Mrs. Fernando died her daughter, Lizzie, told me my mother had been dead since shortly after my birth.

"This woman had played a false role to squander a fortune which belonged by right to me and a sister, who, I was told, had died.

"I can remember when this woman passed as Ann C. Davis, and my sister and I lived with her as her children in Philadelphia. She was wealthy. We afterward passed under the name of Post, the woman having changed her name to Ann C. Post.

"The Fernando woman left a play she had written, too, and from certain lines in this play I have obtained clews upon which to work to ascertain who I am and who my parents were."

Mr. Austin exhibited the manuscript play. The play is called "A Brother's Error," and is copyrighted in the name of A. C. Fernandez. Its plot, the young man thinks, bears upon the history of his family. In it two brothers figure as the conspicuous characters. They are sons of wealthy Southern parents. One of them goes away to Europe and is missing for years. His wife marries his brother, believing her husband to be dead. A child, Pauline, grows up and finds an old box in a closet which contains a letter giving the address of her guardian. Following is a quotation from the play:

Pauline: Oh, what a peculiar box. I wonder what is in it? Papers. What's this? Address of Guardian of Pauline, 116 Meeting street, Charleston, S. C. Name, Joseph Austin. To be notified in case of death. Heavens, what does this mean? Why should I have a guardian if mother is alive? This means something. I must remember that name, Joseph Austin, 116 Meeting street, Charleston, S. C. There is some mystery here. Mamma has never seemed like a real mother to me. She has been good, tender and true, but there is an undefinable something about her which has always made me wonder who she is.

"Now," resumed Austin, "I have written a letter to Charleston, addressed to "The Owner of No. 116 Meeting street." I am in receipt of a letter from the chief of the fire department of that city saying a man named Davis, which was the first name the Fernando woman bore in Philadelphia, occupied a store at No. 116 Meeting street about 1860.

"I was told by the woman who claimed to be my mother that my father was a doctor and was killed in a railroad accident.
